Council on Alcoholism Strives to Combat Increase in Drinking by Young Teen-Agers

He's 14 years old and drunk. He's been drinking for two years. By 15, he'll be an alcoholic.

He doesn't live in some remote urban hard-core. He lives in Princeton and goes to school here. He isn't solitary--he drinks and gets drunk with his friends.

"Kids who are drunk these days are definitely younger than they were," says Borough Juvenile Officer Douglas Watson. "It's down to 14 and 15 now. Before, we'd rarely see even a 16-year-old."

"Before," in Detective Watson's lexicon, means before New Jersey lowered the age limit for drinking from 21 to 18. It's not unusual for an 18-year-old to have friends who are 16 or 17, and they in turn have friends who are 14 or 15 and so the liquor trickles down, passed along the age line. Before, the spread was different. Not many 21-year-olds have friends in their teens.

Judge Philip Carchman, magistrate for both Borough and Township, was so disturbed by the number of alcohol-related offenses, committed by older people as well as youths, that he got in touch with Alcoholics Anonymous and asked for a special AA meeting every Saturday morning in Borough Hall.

Usually, some 30 people attend these sessions. At the moment, there are about 25 who were in Judge Carchman's Borough court and two who came before him in the Township. Robyn McKee, Borough court clerk, estimates that 90 percent of the Borough's 25 are in the 18-25 age group. No juveniles appear in municipal courts.

If it's a drinking-related charge--an automobile accident, creating a disturbance and so on--Judge Carchman usually puts the defendant on probation, and attendance at those Saturday morning Alcoholics Anonymous meetings is part of the probation. It can be required of the defendant for time periods ranging from six months to a year, depending on the charge and how Judge Carchman feels about the detendant.

Police are aware of drunken kids, because kids get behind the wheel and cause accidents and because they get belligerent and tear the place apart.

"Yes, I think there have been more car accidents since the age limit went down," Detective Watson says. "In Princeton, there haven't been any fatals, but we've had some bad ones.

Drunken driving arrests have gone up 60 percent since the age limit was lowered, says the Greater Princeton Council on Alcoholism. The Council, started two years ago by a group of doctors, lawyers, social workers and concerned citizens, has had office space in Princeton only since June (St. Andrews Sanctuary, Nassau Presbyterian Church, Chambers

Republicans Pick Selden to Run in Borough; Back Mrs. Medvin's Independent Candidacy

William Selden, 58 Westcott Road, is the new Republican candidate for the two-year seat on Borough Council.

Republicans have announced their endorsement of Leona Medvin, Democrat who is running as an independent for the one-year Council seat. Ken Rendall III has withdrawn as the Republican's candidate for that seat.

Leadership of the Princeton Community Democratic Organization won't take any steps to endorse Mrs. Medvin, or any additional candidates beyond the two already endorsed, Martin P. Lombardo and Irv Urken, PCDO President Fred Bohen said this week, following a PCDO executive committee meeting Saturday.

The Republicans had to find a new candidate for the two-year seat when Richard Woodbridge, who was running for that seat, was tapped to replace Maurice F. Healy when Mr. Healy decided not to run for one of the three-year positions.

Here's the way it now stands: for the pair of regular, three-year terms on Council: Democrats Martin P. Lombardo and David Male, Republicans Richard Woodbridge and Priscilla Pols.

For the two years remaining in Freeholder Barbara Sigmund's term: Republican William Selden and Democrat Irv Urken.

For the one year remaining in the term of the late Murray Medvin: Independent Leona Medvin (his widow), and

William K. Selden

Democrat Marvin Trotman.

Cawley's Comments. "I couldn't be happier," smiled Republican Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, commenting on the choice of Mr. Selden. "He's always been an independent, politically, but he has demonstrated community leadership. People have been expressing concern to me about the way things are going on Council and I'm glad Bill decided to run."

Mr. Selden, who is 65, was chairman of the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Long Range Planning for the Princeton Regional Schools. He was also chairman of the Princeton Community Tennis Committee and the Bicentennial Committee and was president of the Arts Council.

Professionally, he is a consultant, chiefly in the health fields, and has held administrative positions at Princeton University, Brown and Northwestern.

In a statement, he said he felt he would contribute "a maturity of experience and judgment that appears needed in this period of economic and social strain."

Citing what he called "Princeton's heritage of concern for the welfare of all members of the community," he said "this heritage must not be allowed to be impaired by divisive tactics that encourage divisions and distract attention from what is best for the welfare of the entire community."

Five Issues Cited. Taxes, housing, sewers, recreation and transportation were named as key issues by Mr. Selden.

Mr. Bohen said the PCDO has "a broad-based desire to keep constructively involved in campaigns," and had decided to spend "60 to 70 percent" of its $1,000 treasury toward the cost of a Democratic campaign headquarters in Princeton that would serve every candidate from Jimmy Carter on.

Many of the PCDO's 500-plus members "aren't much interested in local elections," Mr. Bohen said. Backers of candidates not endorsed by the PCDO– Mr. Male, Mr. Trotman and Mrs. Medvin– are free to ask for such endorsement, he said, but the organization's leadership won't make the move.

NEW PARKING AREA SET

For Borough Residents. Another new residential area parking lot – this one for 110 cars -- will be laid down in the Borough this fall. A 27-stall lot will soon be ready on Stockton across from Morven.

The new one, to be leased at $5,000 a year from the company that runs the adjoining Princeton Nursing Home, will be on Maclean with an entrance also on Witherspoon. Rental and the $4,000 improvement cost will, the Borough hopes, be met through a $7-a-month permit for 24-hour parking and a $12-a-month permit for 12-hour parking. The first is for residents of the area who have no driveways to park in, the second for people who work uptown.

"Have you market-researched this?" asked Jack Hammer, from the audience. "Do we know we can fill these lots, or are we making something we hope we can sell?"

"A little of both," conceded Council member Nelson van den Blink, prime mover behind both lots. Heavy parking on residential streets, residents without parking space, the possibility that hospital employees will use the new lot and its nearness to Nassau were cited as reasons for the new arrangement.

Public hearing on enabling ordinances will be Tuesday, October 12. Council hopes to do its re-evaluation of all property in the Borough jointly with the Township or at least at the same time, reported Council finance chairman Gus Escher.

He said everyone on Council was troubled by the "substantial inequities" in the amounts different Borough taxpayers pay on their homes, and Mayor Robert W. Cawley promptly agreed.

"This HAS to be the year for re-evaluation," the mayor stated. This is the one area where we haven't had good government. Township participation is desirable, but secondary."

Mr. Escher said he would confer shortly with the Township. "I think it's a good thing financially when we have so many things we share with the Township, to do it jointly," he said. "It's worth reaching out.

Two More Traffic Lights. Traffic signals at Harrison and Franklin, and Harrison and Prospect may be blinking before another year is out. Council voted to ask the state's Department of Transportation to recommend 100 percent Federal funding for the job. The state authorized the two signals in 1973, at police and school request, but no state money was available and the project was dropped.

Anne O'Neill, 53 Gordon Way, and Marie Dunleavy of the Delaware-Raritan Lung Association, have asked Council for ordinances banning smoking at public meetings in Borough Hall, and prohibiting smoking at all times in the building except in one area.

The two non-smokers told Council's agenda meeting

Teen-Age Drinking

Street, 921-3407), but its telephone answering volunteers are already acutely aware of how many kids have a drinking problem.

"Parents call us," is the laconic comment of Mrs. Jo McMorris, acting executive director of the Council.

Tell It Like It Is. The Council's main thrust is education. Although the group is relatively new in Princeton, its key members have had extensive experience in other towns and will dig in deep this fall with Princeton's youth. Mrs. McMorris is tough about it:

"Get 'em while they're young. Get it across to kids that alcoholism is a DISEASE. We don't use cutsie words. Not 'Harvey Wallbanger' or 'booze' or 'juice.' The word is 'alcohol'. This isn't anything new, we tell 'em. You haven't invented original sin. In high school, we remind them Plato was worried about what alcohol did to people."

The Council, by the way, is "neither wet nor dry," in Mrs. McMorris's words. It is against what it calls "unknowing" drinking.

Over-drinking by youths is a hangover from the "drugs-to-get-high" life of the 1960s, Mrs. McMorris suspects. What really scares her is the way it can pile up.

"Parents know what's going on. They can smell it on his breath....You cannot hide drunkenness."

Too Much For The Body. "Pot and alcohol – beer, wine, vodka – drinking too fast, plus maybe a long hot day at the shore, getting dehydrated, gobbling down unwholesome food, maybe popping some pills that whammy him out....the liver and the rest of the body just can't take that."

Detective Watson reports that kids gulp their alcohol.

"They drink as much as possible, when they're starting," he has found. "Vodka – that can't be detected by parents – wine, beer. Some kids just get sleepy – although we haven't had recently as many kids passing out in school as we used to, right after the 18-year law."

"Other kids get belligerent and disorderly. It's hard to say whether vandalism is caused by drunken kids. But I do know mixing grass and drinking is bad, and that's the main thing we're finding. Pill-popping is down a bit."

It's difficult to draw lines between the sexes, but alcohol does seem to be a more overt problem with boys. With a girl, however, it seems to be more complex, and in the end, if she becomes an alcoholic, more serious.

"If a girl has chosen a group that allows her to drink like this," Mrs. McMorris thinks, "the chances are there is sexual involvement. That means she has guilt spasms and you end up with a sicker woman than a man would be.

"They tell us that the number one admission cause for men in state hospitals is alcohol. But for women, it's depression. And you don't hear quite so much about women or girl drunks. Police are more gallant with a woman drunk. A girl, why, that might be his own daughter, and so on."

Parents Unaware. Where are the pareots, during all this?

Detective Watson finds that most parents are aware, but don't realize how much drinking is done away from home.

"We ask kids to think 'ability'. What's your self-esteem-ability – what do YOU honestly think of yourself? Forget what your parents think about you.

"What's your 'cope-ability'? How do you handle things? What's your 'response-ability'?

Days for Relaxing. "Kids don't realize everybody has a bad day now and then. Macho all the time, they think. I tell them St. George didn't slay a dragon every day. Some days, he just scratched himself and said well, I oughta clean up my armor but I just don't feel like it....."

"Kids are still developing their ego-structure, and that's fine. But it's got to be real – not a false ego, big-blade-all-the-time stuff."

Scared, always, by the drunken kids, Mrs. McMorris talks about re-habilitation. An adult who becomes an alcoholic, she points out, has a sound structure to look back on, and to return to as he copes with his disease.

"But a kid.....! It only takes three years, and then a teen is a real alcoholic. Well, if you're a 19-year-old alcoholic and have been drinking since you were 12, how can you be re-habilitated, or re-stored? You cannot be RE-anything, because you were too young to have been habilitated yet!"

Council people remind kids of safety precautions everybody must follow. You wear a hard-hat. You fasten your seat-belt. You stop at a red light.

"Alcohol can kill you, too."

"Parents won't say 'NO!' because they're afraid the child won't love them if they do. You've got to set down ground-rules: where you go, who you can see, what time you've got to be home."

"They've given the kids some wine or beer at home, thinking it's a good thing. But they don't know the rest."

Although Mrs. McMorris doesn't believe parents should feel guilty, she has some harsh words for them, nevertheless.

"Parents know what's going on. They can smell it on his breath. They know he isn't keeping family hours – probably using a job as an excuse. Because these kids do have jobs: it costs money to buy alcohol. Maybe he falls asleep and burns up the couch. You cannot hide drunkenness.

"Often the parents just sit back – oh, if Johnny would just get a new group of friends! They talk about 'peer group pressure.' Well, nobody is forcing Johnny into this peer group and parents shouldn't use this as a cop-out. You get parent martyrdom, self-pity."

"A Little White Wine." Parents who have treated their children like mature individuals, talking with them about books and politics, allowing them "a little white wine" as though everyone in the family were the same age, don't realize that young teens aren't adults and can't handle alcohol.

"That father and mother will go off for a week-end, leaving a teen son whom they regard as a responsible youth. Saturday night and a wild, loud party. Sunday morning, and a lawn strewn with beer-cans like crab-grass.

"Parents won't say 'NO!' because they're afraid the child won't love them if they do. You've got to set down ground-rules: where you go, who you can see, what time you've got to be home. Go to the school, don't be afraid to admit there's a drinking problem in your home. Talk – what's the kid's attitude in class? Stop worrying about what your friends will think."

Help Without Charge. The Council's ten men and women volunteers -- all of them trained and experienced in alcoholism counselling – will give preliminary counselling free of charge, and will refer the client to whatever agency is appropriate.

Although the sharp new problem of kids and alcohol is scary to the Council, the organization helps alcoholics at all age levels, providing counselling and making referrals. The 921-3407 number is not a hot line, but it is open from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. five days a week.

Starting now in sixth grade -- sixth grade! – the Council on Alcoholism will begin its teaching job.

Consolidation Still a Distant Star But Problems in Common Continue to Find Two Municipalities Here Working Together

Township and Borough, despite the Township's suit over school cost-sharing, are still working and planning and plodding along together.

• A joint public meeting of Borough Council and Township Committee will be held Tuesday, September 28, at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

• Gus Escher, Borough Council member, is planning a joint meeting of Township Committee and Council to hear various points of view about the regional sewer, its plant, plans and cost.

• Mr. Escher would like to see–and may shortly propose–a re-designed planning board which would remain a joint, regional board for purposes of planning, but would handle local matters locally.

• Questions of open space management have led the two Environmental Commissions to talk seriously about merger. A joint meeting of the two will be held next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Township Hall.

• The two Princetons are working out arrangements for a possible Township lease of the Valley Road School building.

• And the Joint Consolidation Study Committee, still studying possible full consolidation of Borough and Township, will hold another meeting Monday, September 27, at 7:30 p.m. in Borough Hall.

Miscellany. The chief item on the joint meeting agenda is – what to do about the sewer operating committee? When the new River Road sewer plant starts up under the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority, the Borough-Township-University SOC will fade into history, and phase-out plans for it—and its employees—must be made.

The two Princetons agree that the public library should ask for Federal money for expansions, and that will come up. (But nobody is very optimistic about getting those funds.)

The new land-use law affects both towns, and it will be discussed, also. Gordon Griffin, attorney for both Princetons, has a thick, draft ordinance implementing that law.

Sewers. Mr. Escher hopes he can line up a key environmentalist; the Sewerage Authority's bond underwriter, Tristam B. Johnson; Thomas Cawley, the Borough's representative on the Authority, and William Starr, the Township's man, for an information session on the explosive issue of the regiooal sewer; Mr. Escher is deeply concerned about costs.

Planning. He also has been thinking about the Princeton Regional Planning but, he emphasizes, he isn't thinking about divorcing Borough from Township.

"God forbid we should lose the real, planning professionals on that board!" he exclaims.

Concerned about the work load–"and it's going to get worse"–Mr. Escher suggests a joint board to deal with planning, policy studies, the resources inventory, environmental concerns.

TOPICS Of The Town

"This board would be freed of nit-picking application reviews," he continues, "those would be handled by individual Township or Borough boards. The PLANNING board shouldn't have to worry about whether Mrs. O'Leary gets an extension of her barn for a bigger cow."

If another community wanted to join the Planning Board, he'd be eager to consider. A county transportation system, watersheds and the like may call for as many as three or four towns on such a board, he suggests.

He will not make his proposal until after election. "How you plan land use should not be a Republican-Democratic issue," he says.

Environment. Since spring, the two Environmental Commissions have been holding joint meetings. A subcommittee is studying open space management, and any merger of the two groups would be primarily for more efficient handling of the town's open space lands.

Each group is required to do certain things, and this is inevitable duplication, points out one member.

Valley Road. If the Township leases the old wing of Valley Road for $1 a year from the school board, who pays if the boiler bursts or the building needs a new roof?

How do you figure out in 1976, a fair formula for something that may not break for six years? Under one proposal, the Township would contribute each year to a fund based on the value of various things that could break down. Or, the Township could pay a pro-rated share of, say, a new boiler: the capital cost divided by the ratio of years the Township has been in the building to the years the Township wasn't–if the Township has been five years in a 30-year-old building, that would be 5/30 of the cost.

The Borough's chief concern is that Township use of the building shouldn't reflect any costs at all to the Borough.

And, finally, should the two communities merge? This winter may see a recommendation from that study committee.

ROADS, SEWERS....

Usual Township Business. Interstate 95, sewers and the Institute for Defense Analyses occupied Township Committee at last Thursday's meeting -- a trio of old friends.

The state has "a poorly articulated process for involving the community" in any decisions about where I-95 is to go – or whether – said Samuel M. Hamill, Jr., executive director of the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council.

MSM takes no position on I-95 pro or con, he emphasized, but the group thinks the state's $2 million environmental studies are "far too narrow" because they don't pay enough attention to the alternative of using the Turnpike as part of I-95.

The defined area of the state's "no-build alternative," he said, stops short of the area south of Bordentown where the turnpike connection would Unanimously, at Mr. Hamill's suggestion, Committee voted to ask Alan Sagner, Commissioner of Transportation: to name citizens groups at municipal, county and state levels to review the technical progress of the state's environmental assessment; to make public the details of traffic impact and environmental studies, and to expand, geographically, the scope of the studies.

Heavy Traffic on 206. "It's not clear what you want for Princeton Township," said William Sutphin from the audience. Mr. Sutphin, a former Committee member, warned that without I-95, Route 206 traffic would go through Princeton.

"We're not addressing the merits of I-95," Mayor Bleiman replied, "we only want information and closer monitoring."

William Cherry, who would like to see the Township get out of the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority, demanded that Committee present a "brief" to the state's Department of Environmental Protection against the single-plant Plan A. He demanded also that the service agreement between the Township and the authority be re-negotiated because the Township stands to lose $30 million over the years.

He charged that, although Committee passed a resolution in June, 1973, stipulating that approval of the service agreement hinge on assurance of Federal and state money and a satisfactory environmental assessment, the formal agreement was signed in December of 1974 without those provisions. Not only that, there was only nine days' legal notice.

Short Changed. Dr. Cherry, who is a Republican candidate for Committee, declared the sewer would damage the Township environmentally more than any other community, and said, "We're on the short end of every dollar deal."

Mayor Bleiman asked Dr. Cherry to put it in writing. Administrator Joseph R. Nini said on Tuesday that no communication from Dr. Cherry had yet been received. He said also that only seven days legal notice is required for such actions.

"I'm not sure we ever had the option of getting out of the Authority," Mayor Bleiman told Dr. Cherry. "It's important to stay with the action now, and resolve the problems."

Committee announced that the Township's Environmental Commission has asked Committee to take an official stand against Plan A with the state and Federal environmental agencies.

Noisy Air-Conditioners. Air-conditioners from the nearby Institute for Defense Analyses are "like a blast furnace," protested Robert Hosford, 430 Terhune Road, charging that IDA was violating the Township's noise ordinance.

Noise studies show IDA isn't violating the code, said Mayor Bleiman sympathetically, but when Mr. Hosford explained that there is less noise at IDA itself than at his property, the mayor promised to ask Township officials to measure beyond IDA's property lines.

"I understand the new air-conditioner they're going to install will be even worse," Mr. Hosford said morosely.

Digging for the eight-foot pond at the new recreation site on State Road, contractors hit—rock. One solution, a 7'4" pond, will cost $3,093.30 more; another solution, digging to nine feet, $6,186.60. Committee is scheduled to continue discussions this Thursday in executive session.

One question -- can a shallower pond maintain fish? The state apparently has said it can.

Committee will act this Thursday on the salary ordinance amendment, having tabled it last week. The question: if employees get another two percent to bring them up to the police 7 percent and if it's retroactive, what about people who left their jobs? Do they get the two percent or not?

Vitally concerned is Michael Taylor, assistant administrator, who resigned last Friday to move to Cleveland. In the past, such increases haven't applied to employees no longer with the Township.

Committee members, at last week's meeting, noted with applause the granting of a Ph.D. degree to their colleague, Dr. Margaret Broadwater.

As the Seasons Change

Cool nights,
Warm days,
Not a trace
Of autumn haze

According to the calendar, autumn haze isn't officially due until next Wednesday at 5:48 p.m. That's when summer bows out and fall begins.

Meantime, the current season is providing just what the poet says: nights that provide the welcome need for a light blanket, days that are toasty with no hint of an early frost.

The higher-than-normal temperatures may bring showers Thursday or Friday, the Man reports, but a sunny weekend is expected. Rainfall, regrettably, continues far below normal.

MOUNTAIN AVENUE, EXTENDED: That new road through the trees which you see just behind the Community Park construction on State Road (Route 206) is the extension of Mountain Avenue, shown on this map with dots. Eventually, there will be a jug-handle opposite, also shown with dots and probably a traffic light. Possibly, although the Township hasn't made a firm decision, Bayard Lane will be closed off, as shown, where it makes a "Y" with State Road. No construction until spring, according to Township officials.

Speeding cost Thomas A. Tate, 73 Stockton Street, $31, and Margaret S. Enrich, 242 Princeton Inn, $15. James V. LaPlaca, 12 Hamilton Avenue, was fined $15 for failure to make repairs.

Stanley Klein, 97 Mountain Avenue, appeared in court for sentencing on two charges of obstructing and interfering. Judge Philip Carchman sentenced him to 30 days on each charge, the sentences to run concurrently.

Mr. Klein was also assessed $25 court costs after his court-appointed attorney, James A. Riley of Trenton, whom Mr. Klein had charged with assault, was found not guilty.

Last month, Mr. Klein had charged Judge Carchman with two counts of obstructing and interfering and Ptl. William Hunter with two indictable offenses. Represented by Wilbur Mathesisus, Judge Carchman was found not guilty.

WHEEL COVERS STOLEN

Valued at $576. Sixteen wire wheel covers valued at $576 were stolen last week from new cars parked at Nini Chrysler-Plymouth, 809 State Road. Owner Anthony Nini reported the theft to police.

Carlos Arumbrem, 102½ Leigh Avenue, lost a $100 leather jacket and a CB radio, also valued at $100, when someone used a wire to unlock his car parked on Race Street. He discovered the theft Monday morning after leaving his car at 11:30 Sunday night.

When Louis Marrapodi of Tenacre Foundation attempted to start his car last week, it wouldn't. The reason: during the night someone had removed the battery valued at $30. The car was parked opposite Edgewood House. Between 7 and 7:30 Thur-

Good exercises for waist and stomach? Lie down on your back, with your arms above your head. Swing into a sit-up, keeping your legs straight. Lie down again and repeat. Remember that sit-ups should be done slowly without jerky motions to avoid injuring your back. The emphasis should be on stretching rather than pulling. In a sitting position, bend your knees and support yourself with hands on the floor behind you. Extend your legs up and lower them slowly. If you find this difficult, move your hand further back to accomodate the movement.

HELPFUL HINT:

Remember that you can make a small room larger by strategic placement of mirrors.

YOU CAN PARK HERE: Borough residents without a driveway, and hence without a place to park the car, may rent one of the 24-hour spots to be marked out in this plot of ground on Stockton Street opposite "Morven." Princeton Theological Seminary, owner of the plot, joined with Borough Council member Nelson van den Blink in this solution to the where-to-park problem. The Borough's engineering department will gravel the site and install bumper blocks, lights and signs. Symbolically ready to dig (left to right) are Council members Gus Escher, Martin P. Lombardo and van den Blink, Seminary President James McCord and Council member Marvin Troimen.

Site of Old Borough Hall to Become Parking Lot

Borough residents who would like to rent one of the 24-hour parking places provided by the Borough with the co-operation of Princeton Theological Seminary should call the Borough Administrator – 924-3119 – or stop at Borough Hall and make application.

Permits, at $7 a month, will allow the permit-holder to use one of the 27 parking stalls in and out, all day and all night. Only Borough residents without an "appurtenance driveway" are eligible. Parking places will be awarded on a first-come, first-served basis.

The new lot is an outgrowth of conversations that began last spring when Bank Street residents Sandy Burns and Michelle Harrison took their daytime parking problems to Borough Council.

Council member Nelson van den Blink conceived the idea of asking the Seminary about the old Borough Hall plot, lying fallow on Stockton Street, close to the center of town. She approached the Seminary and negotiated the project to fulfillment.

At the same time, Bank Street neighbors have achieved two other objectives: two loading zones – a "first" for a residential area – and a brighter light-bulb at the north curve of the street.

sday evening, a sneak thief opened a front door and removed a crocheted hand bag from a chair in the home of Mrs. Suzanne Fremon, 311 Western Way. Inside was a red leather wallet containing $75 and credit cards.

The wallet was found a few hours later in a Quarry Street gutter with credit cards but minus the money. The handbag was found the next day on a nearby Western Way front lawn.

In a similar theft in the Borough, a pocketbook left on a kitchen stool and visible from the outside was snatched Friday evening between 8:55 and 10. It contained $20 and a paycheck.

Police report the thief propped a lawn chair next to the side of the house to raise the window. The victim is a Harrison Street resident.

An employee of Gallery 100 on Nassau Street reported the theft of her wallet last week from a second floor room. She lost $20.

Police said that another employee saw a stranger come down the stairs. The suspect was described as between 25 and 30, 5-6 to 5-8 tall, thin, wearing a plaid jacket and blue jeans.

A right front vent window was forced to enter a car parked in a rear yard on Green Street and a 23 channel CB radio was stolen. The theft was reported Friday morning.

BRIEF AGENDA

For Township Zoners. A one-item agenda will be on the table next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. when the Township Zoning Board meets in Township Hall.

Commodities Corporation, Mt. Lucas Road, will ask for a reduction in the required number of parking spaces. Commodities, with 20 employees and a possible expansion to 25, doesn't think it needs the required 49 spaces. It will ask for a reduction to 43.

WE'LL CAMPAIGN

Democrats Name Committee. Archibald S. Alexander Jr. and Jacqueline L. Swain, who are heads of the Borough Democratic campaign, announced this week the members of their committee.

Gus Escher will be treasurer and Nelson van den Blink will be in charge of raising money to go into the treasury. Both are members of Borough Council. James Britt will be legal adviser; Garnette Ross, will run public relations and David Miller will be the official photographer.

VARSITY SPORTS HIT

By Shoplifters. Two gym suits valued at $45 each were stolen late Saturday afternoon at the Varsity Sport Shop by two shoplifters who then managed to escape.

Three patrol cars responded to a call by the manager and searched the area without success.

One suspect was described as 5-10, slim with a moustache. He was wearing a blue denim suit, sunglasses and was carrying a large black shoulder bag. The other was listed at 5-8, slim, wearing a white shirt, dark trousers and a baseball cap.

Less fortunate was a woman arrested Friday by Lawrence Township police for allegedly shoplifting items from the K-Mart in Mercer Mall.

As a result of their investigation, Lawrence police said they found several children's jumpsuits in the suspect's possession that were allegedly stolen from Allen's on Nassau Street. Det. Timothy Huizing went to Lawrence to continue the investigation.

He later charged Deborah Taylor, 32, of Trenton, with larceny. She is scheduled to appear in court September 29.

Employee Charged. Jamie MacInnis, manager of Lookin' Good, 14 Witherspoon Street, last week charged an employee, William Teague, 26, 184 Witherspoon Street, with the tarceny of a denim coat valued at $45.

Following an investigation by Det. Ronald Holliday, Mr. Teague was released, pending his appearance in Borough court.

2 STUDENTS ARRESTED

In Grover Lumber Yard. Two Princeton University students were arrested at 2:40 Friday morning by Ptl. Mario Musso in the Grover Lumber Company yard on Alexander Street.

Terance T. Power, 21, 503 Witherspoon Hall, was charged with intent to steal, and Dennis R. Spates,, 21, 530 Witherspoon Hall, with aiding and abetting. Police said the two had allegedly attempted to steal eight 2x4s. Police were alerted after an alarm in the lumber firm sounded.

Released in their own recognizance, the two are scheduled to appear October 20 in Township Court.

Charged in TV Theft. Two men and a woman have been charged with breaking and entering after they were seen leaving the scene of a Herrontown Road break-in Thursday morning.

Charles E. Ermi, 28, and Joyce A. Ermi, 27, both of Trenton, and Stephen Ermi, 18, of Bordentown, were arrested on Quaker Road by Hamilton Township police. A portable TV, allegedly stolen from a Herrontown Road home, was found in their car, police said.

Chief Frederick Porter cited the action of Ptl. John Hammond who, on his way to investigate the burglar alarm call, got the registration number of a car leaving the area. Police said that a door jam had been smashed and five window panes broken to enter the house, which was then ransacked.

The three suspects were later released, pending their appearance in court.

65 ENROLLED

At University Nursery School. This week nearly 65 boys and girls will meet their teachers for the first time at the University League Nursery School. Beginning with half-hour meetings between teachers, parents and children on Thursday and Friday, the school will resume full session next week as children attend four- or five-day morning classes.

The 15 youngsters registered in the extended-day program which lasts till 1 oegin their full classes on Monday, September 27. Representing countries as far away as Japan, Israel, Iran and England, the children enjoy a 6-1 student-teacher ratio at the cooperative school which is located at 171 Broadmead. There are of four master teachers and assistants, and the parents take turns assisting in the classrooms.

For information on the several remaining openings, call Chris Bloomfield at 924-6153. The school was started in 1948 by a Princeton University professor's wife and is directed by Mrs. Shirley Fox.

Partial Road Closings

The Township Engineering Department has announced that beginning this Thursday, parts of the following streets will be partially closed for resurfacing, weather permitting: Lake Drive, Galbreath Drive, Bertrand Drive, Heather Lane, Dodds Lane and Stuart Road.

In each case, the road will have one lane open for traffic during work. The public is requested to avoid these streets where possible.

SEMIFINALISTS NAMED

In Merit Scholarships. Several area residents are among the 15,000 students named semifinalists in the 1977 National Merit Scholarship Program. They will have an opportunity to continue in the competition for about 3,850 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in the spring.

Those named from Princeton High School include Scott M. Allen, Michelle J. Arden, Richard E. Besser, Dorothy Dyson, David Fox, Monica J. Hargraves, Heather L. Helms, David D. Meyerhofer, Jason Morgan,

Students from Princeton Day School include Hendrik Gordenker, Morgan J. Hite, Carol Katz, James L. Mayer and Edward A. Stabler. From the Hun School, Cheri A. Leone was selected, and from Stuart Country Day School, Doris Bitter.

Those from Hopewell Valley Central High School include Lisa A. Coffin, Carol J. Loptson, Tracy Mullen, Eric R. Salberta, and David L. Weakliem. Two are students from West Windsor-Plainsboro High School, Mark A. Shallcross and Daniel L. Smith.

Semifinalists are students who scored the highest in the state in the 1975 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Qualifying Test (PSAT-NMSQT). The number named in a state is proportional to that state's percentage of the nation's total graduating senior class. The Semifinalists, most of whom will complete high school and enter college in 1977, represent the top half of one percent of the nation's most academically talented young people, according to the release from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

A PENNY SAVED

...Is a Penny Stolen. When James Hoy entered his Lawrence Court apartment on West Drive last week, he discovered that a jar was missing from his bedroom.

It contained, police said, $100 in cash and $40 in change. There was no sign of forced entry. Det. Samuel Bianco is investigating.

Last week, Ruth S. Mueller, 182 Snowden Lane, also noticed something missing when she arose. A pocketbook which she had left the night before on a table in a first-floor room was gone.

It was later found against a fence at 95 Leabrook Lane, minus $5 and a $40 piece of jewelry. Police said the house was entered through a sliding glass door off a patio.

Another who joined the long list of CB theft victims last week is Herbert F. Farlee of Hart Avenue, Hopewell.

Mr. Farlee parked his truck in the lot of Nassau Oil on Route 206. When he returned just 15 minutes later, his CB transmitter and receiver valued at $106 was missing. Police said his truck was unlocked.

PARKED CAR TARGET

Of Vandals. A car parked one evening last week on Willow Street (off Moore) was attacked by vandals, who, police said, broke off its windshield wipers and radio antenna.

Earlier the same day, police report that windows on the south side of St. Paul's School were shot with BBs. The panes measured 2½ by 6 feet.

LESS RED INK

In University Budget. Princeton University's budget deficit for the fiscal year ending last June 30 is $319,000—substantially less than the $700,000 deficit projected in January, President William G. Bowen has announced.

In reporting the budget results to the faculty at its first meeting of the new year, Dr. Bowen called the figure "encouraging" since it represents a reduction of some 70 percent from the deficit of just over $1 million incurred by the university in fiscal year 1974-75, and a 54 percent reduction in the deficit projected for last year by the university's Priorities Committee, which advises the president on budget matters.

The deficit came in lower than expected for several reasons, Dr. Bowen said. "First and foremost, the Annual Giving campaign broke all previous records. On a cash received basis, which always differs a bit from announced campaign results due to the timing of receipts on pledges, Annual Giving last year totalled $4.2 million, an increase of more than $700,000 above the amount included in the January figures. This extraordinary result is a dramatic tribute to the commitment of our alumni and other friends of the university, and also reflects an enormous amount of hard work on the part of so many people."

The University also benefited by receiving higher than anticipated outside funds for sponsored research and student aid. These factors more than offset other line items that came in higher than projected for the library, computer center, infirmary, dormitories and food services, and housing.

It seems reasonably clear, said Dr. Bowen, "that the University will be able to operate on an approximate break-even basis this year" and would thus be able to achieve a balanced budget a year earlier than anticipated (the university's long-range budget plan calls for a balanced budget for the 1977-78 fiscal year).

FUND DRIVE LEADERS: Irene Lynch, left, Marion La Bar and Dorothea Lummis are treasurer, vice-president and president, respectively, of the Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation which seeks funds to assist graduating PHS seniors to further their education. Last year $6,150 was given to 11 graduates.

FUND DRIVE BEGINS

For PHS '77 Scholarships. Officers and members of the Board of Trustees for 1976-7 have been announced by the Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation at the beginning of a fund drive to assist members of the Princeton High School Class of 1977 who will require financial assistance to continue their education or training.

Elected to a second term as officers of the Foundation are Dorothea Lummis, president; Marion LaBar, vice-president; Marge White, secretary; and Irene Lynch, treasurer.

According to Mrs. Lummis, broad financial support from the community enabled the Foundation to administer a total of $6150 in educational grants to 11 members of Princeton High School's last graduating class. The grant recipients are now enrolled at automotive mechanic, nursing, business and court reporting training schools as well as four year and junior colleges. In each case financial assistance was

THREE CHANGES MADE

In Adult School List. House Remodeling, a new course designed to give practical answers to those who plan alterations or additions to their homes, has been added to the roster of classes to be given under the sponsorship of the Princeton Adult School. The ten or five week courses will open the last week in September, with in-person registration for the courses held at the Princeton High School cafeteria Thursday from 4-6 and 8-9:30 p.m.

Dropped from the roster is Two-Dimensional Design, while Square Dancing will be given on Tuesday instead of Thursday evening as listed in the brochure. Registrations by mail are reported heavy this year. Individuals may sign up for classes up to and until the first session of classes.

OPENING THURSDAY

For Outgrown Shop. The Outgrown Shop, a thrift shop of men's, women's and children's clothes in good condition at reasonable prices, will open Thursday for the academic year at its headquarters at 234 Nassau Street.

Founded by Mrs. Kingsley Hubby and Mrs. Thomas Alsop in the basement of Miss Fine's School in 1944, the shop has grown into a full-time operation managed by Mrs. L.W.J. Parker and Mrs. C.U. Klopfenstein and staffed by volunteers. Clothing is donated outright or given on consignment, and all proceeds benefit the Princeton Day School scholarship fund.

The shop appeals to thrifty mothers, pennywise students on limited budgets and people who enjoy bargain hunting. Limited to carefully selected clothing, outgrown but not outworn, the shop does not

JOHN W. BAUMAN, JR.

DAVID W. BLAIR

DEMOCRATS FOR PRINCETON TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE

A determined fighter for Princeton's environment, John Bauman organized and led to a successful conclusion "Concerned Citizens Against the Tower Office Complex." In the fifteen years he and his family have lived here Mr. Bauman has compiled a consistent record of local concern and involvement. A longtime member of the Sierra Club, he has labored steadily in support of the Princeton Recycling Project. For the past eight years he's served as Director of the Adult Summer Tournaments of the Community Tennis Program. He has also been a Democratic County Committeeman and member of the Executive Board of the PCDO. A native Californian, John Bauman served as a naval Officer in World War II and is a graduate of the University of Southern California with a PhD from the University of California at Berkeley. Formerly a Section Head in the Experimental Medicine Department at NJNPI, he currently teaches Physiology at the New Jersey College of Medicine in Newark. Bauman and his wife Sally (a teacher at the Institute for Advanced Studies Nursery School) live on Mt. Lucas Road and have four children, all graduates of Princeton High School.

Frequently consulted as an expert witness in litigation involving mechanical equipment, David Blair offers a valuable area of expertise to Princeton Township Committee. A Mechanical Engineer engaged in anti - pollution and energy conversion research at the Exxon Research Laboratories he is also an Adjunct Associate Professor of Mechanical Engineering at Columbia University. Blair is a graduate of Oregon State University and holds both MS and PhD degrees from Columbia. Since moving to Princeton in 1958 he and his family (wife Rosemary, an art teacher in the Princeton School System, and six children ages 11 to 21) have become dedicated supporters of local environmental concerns. Mr. Blair took an active role in the successful opposition to a Terhune Loop Road. He and his family are outdoor enthusiasts fond of hiking, biking, and camping. He presently serves on the Board of the Herrontown Woods Committee. The Blairs live on Princeton - Kingston Road.

HUNGER BANQUET SET

For Continental Walk. The relay of the Continental Walk for Disarmament and Social Justice that will leave New Brunswick on the morning of Thursday, September 23, will be greeted officially in Princeton at about 6 p.m. in Palmer Square by William Starr, Mayors Bleiman and Cawley, and representatives of the Princeton Friends Meeting and the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

The walk started in Boston on August 6. Its goal is Washington, where it will join the longer walk that left San Francisco in January.

The walkers will be put up for two nights in Princeton by supporters who have volunteered their homes. There will be a meeting with students on the Princeton Campus Friday, September 24 in Murray-Dodge and a Hunger Banquet Saturday at 6 in Trinity Church to which all interested are invited.

35 STUDENTS RESPOND

To Government Liaison Call. Some 35 students in grades 8 through 12 responded to a call last week to serve as liaison to boards, committees and commissions of Borough Council.

Councilman Martin Lombardo, founder of the youth liaison system, reported that students from Princeton High School, Princeton Day School, Hun, Stuart, St. Paul's and John Witherspoon attended a two-hour meeting held in Borough Hall. Everyone who came, he said, applied for one of the 32 positions available. Most interest centered on the civil rights, library and recreation commissions.

Thomas Karney, regional co-ordinator for the federal government's Office of Youth Development, was the main speaker. In addition to Mr. Lombardo, those attending included Marvin Trotman, Council's chairman of the Youth Action Committee; Royce Flippin, Barbara Soda and Heidi Nini, former Princeton High students, and Todd Zapolski.

After reviewing all the applications, Mr. Lombardo said that his liaison committee would make recommendations to Mayor and Council.

Also planned, Mr. Lombardo said, are trips to Washington and the state legislature and seminars on government. "It's more than just liaison – it's a thorough in-government training opportunity for students," he commented.

LEARN A LANGUAGE

At Language Group. The fall term of the Princeton Language Group will start the last week of September and last for 15 weeks. Private as well as semi-private classes are offered in the following languages: Arabic, Chinese, Czech, Dutch, English as a second language, Finnish, French, German, ancient and modern Greek, Hebrew, Hindi, Hungarian, Italian, Japanese, Latin, Norwegian, Persian, Polish, Portuguese, Russian, Serbo-croatian, Slovak, Spanish and Swedish.

All languages are taught by native instructors with solid credentials and many years of experience. Semi-private classes meet once a week for two hours and are strictly limited to a maximum of four participants, thus insuring a high degree of individual attention. Classes for children meet once or twice a week for one hour.

Private instruction is scheduled at the convenience of the student. Lessons are usually taught in the teacher's home, although the instructors are willing to travel for an additional fee. Intensive courses are also available.

The study plan of the Language Group emphasizes the audio-lingual approach, and the foreign language is used as much as possible by students and teacher. The students will have the opportunity to become acquainted not only with the language but also with the current events, history and culture of a particular country. The language instruction for younger children will be based on a real situation which they can

Township May Get Plans for 650 Homes In Northern Section Sometime in Fall

Dravo, the corporation that wants to build 650 homes on a 225-acre tract in the northern Township, may appear before the Planning Board in late October or early November.

The corporation would like to ask Township Committee to re-zone the area, a simpler process for Dravo than going to the Zoning Board asking for a list of variances. The Planning Board is charged with providing information to Township Committee in such a situation, and Dravo's appearance before the Planning Board for discussion, would provide the board with information it can pass along to Township Committee.

Gibbs and Hill, developers for Dravo, could make two different kinds of presentations to the board, according to Mary Conrad, board secretary. The firm might make a 90-minute presentation, giving its own broad views on master planning. Board and audience could then ask questions.

Or Gibbs and Hill might make a three or four-hour presentation of its own proposed development. Conferences between attorneys for the Planning Board and Gibbs and Hill will determine which course is to be followed.

Contracts have been signed between the Planning Board and Carl Lindbloom, who is pulling together housing data. The contract calls for $5,000 for 12 weeks' work, with $40 an hour for Mr. Lindbloom, a maximum of $30 an hour for an aide and $12 for drafting work if additional work is needed beyond the 12 weeks.

At last week's Planning Board meeting, the board told both Dogwood Hill and Nassau Capital Investment Property to go before the site plan review commitee for discussion of their housing proposals.

SEMINAR SCHEDULED

On Non-Violent Resistance. "Non-violence in Action" is the title of a six week seminar offered by the Princeton Fellowship of Reconciliation and open to everyone. An organization meeting to set up the dates and times of the weekly meetings will be held on Tuesday at 8 in Wilcox Hall on the Princeton University campus.

The purpose of the seminar is to examine non-violent campaigns and their effects. Beginning with Gandhi's resistance to the British in South Africa, the seminar will go on to his Indian campaigns, some non-violent resistance in Europe, the non-violent movement in the U.S. led by Martin Luther King and other black Americans, and finally a campaign that took place at the military installation in Leonardo, N.J.

There will be no charge for attendance, but members of the seminar will be expected to pay for books if they can afford to do so. For further information, phone Allan or Gail Smith at 921-1784, Marjory Pratt at 737-0434, or Roger Maren at 466-2039.

BID 'N' BUY OCT. 2

In Rocky Hill. Cotton candy, tug-o-war, New Jersey's oldest band, a big-tent auction, booths for every browser, and a harvest-time spirit are all part of Rocky Hill's annual Bid 'n' Buy, scheduled for Saturday, October 2, from 10 to 5 at Panicaro Park on Washington Street. This fund-raising fair benefits the Rocky Hill Community Group, which maintains a center in a pre-Revolutionary house on Washington Street where varied programs of historic, educational and recreational activities are offered.

Several booths have become traditional, such as The Green Thumb, the Apron Booth, the Book Booth of second-hand books of all kinds and Handicrafts in a variety of attractive items, including dried flower arrangements. The Rocky Hill Volunteer Fire Company will provide popcorn, cotton candy and hay rides, and the Rocky Hill First Aid and Rescue Squad will also be on hand. Joanna Fiori will sell her pottery, Martha Lasley will demonstrate spinning, and handsome handmade Scandinavian-style ski sweaters will be sold at the Knitting Booth.

Many bargains are available at the White Elephant and the Silent Auction. The main attraction under the big tent will be the auction. Mary Lou Meyer, 921-9331, and Barbara Whitlock, 924-4062, are in charge of collecting donated items; any donations are tax-deductible.

Edna Robotti and Charles Allen, last year's Perpetual Purple Moose award winners for services to the community above and beyond the call of duty are in charge of refreshments, which include their special meatball sandwiches and pickled eggs. For something to take home, try the selection of goodies offered at the Gourmet Booth.

The produce contest will give awards for the biggest home-grown specimen of pumpkin, zucchini, sunflower, watermelon, tomato, cucumber, pole bean, carrot, cabbage, and-or ear of corn. The contest is open to all ages.

General chairmen for the Bid 'n' Buy are Ann Faranetta and Pam Riley. Other chairmen are aprons, Adrienne Rodewald; auction, Doris Hartmann and Peggy Warner; books, Jo Carris and Nancy Metcalf; children's activities, Rette Moede and Kerry Jones; entertainment, Sue Myers and Bob Gittleman; field, Francie Merritt and Mary Hayden; gourmet, Marie Vuocolo and Mary Lou Krulisch; green thumb, Pam Wagner and Molli Mezrich; dried flowers, Judy Murphy and Rosemary Kloiber; handicrafts, Barbara Manka and Ann Porterfield, knitting, Betty Ireland and Nancy Lucas.

Also publicity, Linda Eveleigh, posters and signs, Anita Pettibone, Lois Franklin and Carol Pollard; raffle, Ruth Wulff and Norma Goetz; scheduling, Betty Roach and Ellie Yuchmow; silent auction, Laura Stabler, Nancy Nicholson and Betty Grimes; treasurer, Al Vuocolo; white elephant, Sue Minton and Joan Williams.

Monday that the carbon monoxide levels of "second-hand smoke" were unhealthfully high in the traditional smoke-filled room, damaging non-smokers as well as smokers. They pointed to court decisions requiring companies to provide smoke-free places for employees to work, and cited states and cities that ban smoking. Council will discuss the question at its October meeting.

In other matters, Council announced rent-leveling discussions for the October meeting, said snow-removal for the elderly would again be done, praised Police Lt. Bellows for helping, off-duty, to catch a thief, learned that 35 young people came to a Youth Liaison meeting and that several will be named on September 28 to various boards, set October 12 for a public hearing on the capital budget.

The segment of Wiggins between Witherspoon and Chambers was formally changed in name to Paul Robeson Place.

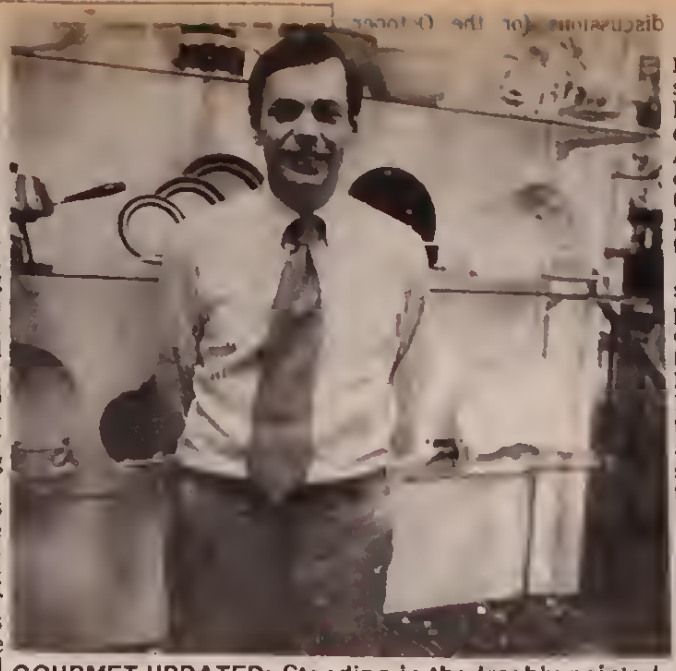
IT'S NEW To Us

NEW LOOK INSIDE

For Princeton Gourmet. The Princeton Gourmet, which resides in a charming 18th century house, has been given a fresh new look inside. By adding glass sbelves and removing some large tables, Don Warnock who purchased the store last May has increased the wall shelf area by 50 percent and the walking space by almost 100.

The overall effect is spacious and airy – just the right setting for his merchandise which Mr. Warnock insists must deal with food or food entertaining. He has taken the major areas of the store -- table-top, kitchen and cooking -- and separated them into three distinct departments just as you might find in a large department store.



GOURMET UPDATED: Standing in the freshly painted and re-decorated table-top room of the Princeton Gourmet is Don Warnock, who since last May has been updating his recently acquired store.

He has also updated the merchandise to include whatever "hot" items you might see in places such as the Horchow catalog or Bloomingdales, eliminating the need to travel any further than Harrison Street. For example, he has purchased a clear acrylic cheese tray with embossed names of various wines and cheeses that is currently featured in several catalogs, $15.

Mr. Warnock has an excellent merchandising background, including time spent as a buyer of home furnishings for both Lord & Taylor and B. Altman. This marketing experience has been invaluable in enabling him to buy in his words the "best of everything, but not necessarily the most expensive."

Fine Porcelain Added. Possibly the most exciting new addition is some fine porcelain that has been carried exclusively by Tiffany & Co. until now. Made by a very old Luxembourg company, there are two patterns – one with deep blue clouds against a soft blue-grey background and the other with a blue floral motif on the same background, set off by a tan rim in a matte finish. Although both have a contemporary look to them, they also reflect an oriental influence and would go equally well in a traditional mahogany setting. The cost is $37.50 for a five-piece setting.

For some time now Princeton Gourmet has emphasized the contemporary styles, but Mr. Warnock is bringing back some traditional pieces. For instance, the same Luxembourg company makes a handsome seven-piece fish set with a different fish on each plate – certainly an item we have not seen outside of antique shops for some years, $75 the set.

There is also crystal, American pewter in clean-cut traditional designs, and some reproduction Imari china that is most reasonably priced, $14 for a service plate. Pewter tankards for men are here too, and we particularly liked the one with a staghorn handle, $26.50.

Other additions include what Mr. Warnock terms "fun stuff." There is a set of leaf plates ($19 for four) that are great for salads or that can be teamed with a set of bowls decorated with dancing frogs inside. Then along with the traditional Fraser and Lauffer stainless are two new patterns with either bamboo or square lucite handles, $15 and $20 a place setting.

For Casual Entertaining. The hallway in the center of the house has been turned over to casual entertaining which includes many handsome wooden boards and domed lucite servers that can keep food hot or cold, priced from $22. Mr. Warnock says "Princeton is an entertaining-at-home town where this clean, honest kind of thing is just right."

Much of what you'll find here is extremely practical such as a large white oval platter, $32. At first this may not sound fantastic, but not many homes have platters this size and they can be extremely hard to find. In fact even with Mr. Warnock's experience, it took him three months to track this item down.

The kitchen room is basically the same with its excellent cookware and many gadgets which range from a lemon zester to a Cuisinart. The cookware choice includes Le Crueset, a restaurant quality American aluminum and copper pots imported by Princeton Gourmet which currently are specially priced at a 25 percent savings.

While copper is expensive, it cooks superbly and does last forever with some occasional re-tinning (a service Mr. Warnock offers.) Prices start at about $26.50 for a small fry pan and go up to $80 or more for a stock pot.

The cookbooks have been moved into this room, and an oak stool added, because Mr. Warnock feels you should be comfortable while browsing through the many recipes.

The food department contains many delicacies that are hard to find elsewhere such as homemade French bread, pure vanilla extract, Tellicherry pepper and fresh caviar that can be delivered in 72 hours.

Some new foods include a light and moist cheese cake that Mr. Warnock calls "gorgeous!" It is made by an English woman who also bakes chocolat nut and spiced walnut cakes. He has also added Manero's famous steak sauce and Juan Santamaria's sherry wine vinegar. This costs $5.80 a bottle, but "it is superb and makes a lovely gift," said Mr. Warnock.

Also new is a non-alcoholic beer from Switzerland. Called Birell, Mr. Warnock bought "just a few cases to try, and it walked out." A perfect luncheon accompaniment, it tastes just like beer and is priced like any other import, 75 cents a bottle.

Princeton Gourmet, located at the intersection of Nassau and Harrison Street is open Monday through Friday from 9:30 to 5:30.

WHAT'S FOR DINNER?

How About Lamb, Apricot Pilaf? "My interest in cooking started when I was born, or at least my interest in eating did," commented Myrna Ahmed recently. The two are certainly closely related, and today Ms. Ahmed has a wide-ranging collection of recipes from many parts of the world.

Having lived in India three separate times, she is probably best known for this cooking, which she has taught for the past three years at the Princeton Adult School. However, she has also traveled to Israel, Morocco and Southern Spain, and has sampled many dishes along the way.

Ms. Ahmed's enthusiasm for cooking extends beyond simply copying a recipe. She prefers to go right into the kitchen with the cook and work through all the steps together, learning the smallest particulars.

In her own cooking, she uses only the best ingredients such as olive oil for sauteeing or pure butter for the tender phyllo pastry. There are no preservatives, and whenever possible, everything is fresh.

Now, she has initiated a novel service called Maid's

Night Off, whereby each Friday she can provide you with a complete dinner-to-go. There is a different menu each week, and this offers you a perfect way to sample the food of India or the Middle East.

Lamb is basic to this cooking and one of Ms. Ahmed's favorite recipes is a lamb and apricot pilaf in which all the flavors blend together giving the lamb an extra sparkle.

Other dishes likely to be offered each week are chicken in a fresh orange sauce; sweet rice pilaf with almonds, Bulgher wheat salad with a dressing of olive oil and fresh lemon juice, stuffed grape leaves, cheese borek or a Baklava made with layers of paper-thin phyllo pastry and filled with ground almonds.

Each meal consists of a main course, vegetable and choice of appetizer or dessert, generally priced below $7 per person. Extra servings can also be ordered.

Order by Tuesday. The menu for the following week appears in TOWN TOPICS' classified section each issue, and your order should be placed by Tuesday to give Ms. Ahmed time to shop and cook. If you order now, the meal for next weekend (Sept. 24) is boned chicken breasts in a walnut pomegranate sauce, rice pilaf with raisins and nuts, Greek spinach pie in phyllo pastry and a choice of Samosa (an Indian egg roll) or Gulab Jamun (an Indian Baba au Rum,) $6.50 per serving.

Ms. Ahmed also manages International Gourmet Caterers which aims to satisfy individual requests. No matter what size or type of party, she will discuss with you the foods you prefer and then prepare those. She has had a broad experience with food and can as easily prepare a Spanish or French dish as she can those from India or the Middle East.

In addition to her enthusiasm for food and cooking, her background includes a Master's degree in nutrition from Cornell University and experience as Chief Nutritionist in pediatrics at N.Y.U. Medical Center, Bellevue Hospital. She is also scheduled to teach once again at the Princeton Adult School. This year the course offered is Middle Eastern cooking

To order the complete dinner, or for more information on the catering service, Myrna Ahmed can be reached at 924-2982

TWO WOMEN HIRED

As Grounds Crew at ETS. They wear the same flannel shirts, the same dirt-stained jeans, the same raingear, the same steel-toed boots, and the same hardhats. They push the same lawnmowers and wheelbarrows, trim the same shrubs, and they lift the same shovels and rakes. They do almost everything the men do with a few admitted exceptions, and they do it just as well.

They are Karen Weiss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weiss, 32 Cameron Court and Jeannette File, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph File, 10 Millbrook Lane, Lawrenceville, the first women workers on the summer groundskeeping crew at Educational Testing Service.

Sex barriers had fallen at ETS in the past with the hiring of female forklift drivers, male secretaries, and male switchboard operators, but until this season, the summer grounds crew, numbering about 20 college students, was traditionally all male. "I'm treated just like one of the guys," says Karen, 20, a tall brunette who is a senior majoring in economics at Douglass College in New Brunswick.

"Everybody's been really nice to us," adds Jeannette, a 21-year-old 1976 graduate of Susquehanna University in Pennsylvania, the first of the duo to get the nod from the ETS personnel office to start work. Now, after a summer on the job, both women say they enjoy working outdoors, and did a good job, according to their boss, grounds foreman Harold Sutphin.

"They're hard workers," Mr. Sutphin said. "They're eager to learn things they don't know, and they've never refused a job I assigned them. They'll be hired back next year for sure if they want the job."

One three-year male veteran on the crew had this to say: "They've definitely added something that we didn't have here before. I can't quite say what it is, but I can tell you one thing. We don't use the same language around here anymore."

News Of The CHURCHES

TO OBSERVE HOLIDAYS

With Social and Religious Evening. An evening of fellowship, study and worship has been planned by The Jewish Center of Princeton for Saturday, starting at 9.

New members will be welcomed over coffee and dessert while all members of the Jewish Center are invited to come and greet one another as well. Sponsored by the membership committee, this social hour is intended to start the high holiday period.

Then, at 10:15 p.m. there will be a study, led by Rabbi Melvin Jay Glatt, on the theme "The Shofar in Jewish Law, Lore, and Tradition." The serious and the not-so-serious, the philosophical and the quite strange, all things connected with the Shofar will be considered in the hope of better understanding of its origins, history and place in religious tradition. This part of the evening is sponsored by the adult education committee of the center.

At midnight, the high holidays will be ushered in with a special "Selichot" service, the traditional prayers for forgiveness. Rabbi Glatt will be assisted by Jay Rovner, and all preparations have been made by the religious affairs committee.

TO ORDAIN WOMAN

At Nassau Church. Leslie M. Kolbjornsen will be ordained by the Presbytery of New Brunswick to the ministry in the United Presbyterian Church Sunday at 10 in the Palmer Square Sanctuary of Nassau Presbyterian Church. She will be installed as assistant minister of special responsibilities in christian education and youth ministry.

The Rev. Dr. Wallace M. Alston Jr., senior minister of Nassau Church, will preside. The children's sermon will be given by the Rev. G. Frederick Schott, pastor, Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, Princeton Junction. Others participating in the service will be the Rev. Dr. Katherine D. Sakenfeld, associate professor of Old Testament at Princeton Theological Seminary; Elder W. Robert Martin, III; the Moderator of the Presbytery of New Brunswick, Evelyn Bloom; the Rev. Blan C. Aldridge, associate minister, Nassau Presbyterian Church; Mrs. Kolbjornsen's husband, Arthur, who is counselor at Corner House; and Elder Freda Gardner, assistant professor of Christian Education at Princeton Seminary.

The Rev. David Prince, pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Ewing and Stated Clerk of the Presbytery of New Brunswick, will preach on "The Problem of Priorities." The choir under the direction of Mary T. Krimmel will present special music. A reception at the church will follow the service.

Mrs. Leslie Kolbjornsen

HEBREW SCHOOL STARTS

At Jewish Center. The Princeton Jewish Center has announced the start of the fall term of the Princeton Regional Hebrew High School this week. The school is a center for secondary education in Jewish studies and offers courses leading to a Hebrew High School Diploma. This diploma is awarded upon successful completion of 30 credits.

From now until January 19, the High School will offer thirteen courses, including Bible study and interpretation, Jewish literature, Jewish history and contemporary social issues, the art of Torah and Haftorah reading, several Hebrew courses and one in Yiddish, plus extracurricular activities such as Israeli folk dancing and Hebrew calligraphy. Qualifying students may also apply for independent research study under the tutelage of Rabbi Melvin Jay Glatt of the Jewish Center or Dr. Dov Spiegel, Principal of the school.

No previous background is required for any course except advanced language courses. Tuition is $18 per credit for Center members and $30 for non-members. A complete listing of courses and faculty is available from the Jewish Center on request.

TO FOCUS ON JONAH

At Trinity Church. The fall program of christian education for children and adults at Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street, will focus on the Old Testament Book of the prophet, Jonah. Pre-School and Church School registration will take place Sunday at 10:15.

Classes will begin the next Sunday, September 26, at which time the rector's Forums for adults commence, following the 9:15 a.m. Holy Eucharist. Dr. John Marks, professor at Princeton University, will lead a discussion on the story of Jonah from a Biblical and historical perspective.

Sunday services are at 8, 9:15 and 11:15, and the full choirs under the direction of James H. Litton will be in attendance on September 26. Members of the community are invited to participate in Trinity's diversified spiritual, educational, social and outreach programs.

THEOLOGIAN HERE

For Opening of Seminary. Dr. Juergen Moltmann, Professor of Systematic Theology at Tubingen University, will open Princeton Theological Seminary's 164th academic year by delivering three public lectures Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings in the Seminary's Miller Chapel, beginning at 7:45.

His Monday presentation, "Messianic Life-Style," will be given at opening convocation. Four newly elected professors will be installed: Dr. James N. Lapsley, as professor of pastoral theology; Dr. Diogenes Allen, as professor of philosophy; Dr. Karlfried Froehlich, as professor of the history of the early and medieval church; and Dr. Gibson Winter, as Maxwell M. Upson professor of christianity and society. On Tuesday Dr. Moltmann will discuss "The Trinitarian History of God"; and Wednesday, "Creation as Open System."

Professor Moltmann, who was born in Hamburg, Germany, in 1926, began his theological studies as a prisoner of war in England and continued at Gottingen University.

HOW LITTLE CAN HIFI COST?
The hifi systems at Tech Hifi can cost as much as $8,000 (we're not called The Hifi Show for nothing).

Or as little as $269. (For the purposes of this ad, we'll assume you have Porsche taste, but a Toyota budget).
It is possible to be perfectly happy with an inexpensive hifi system. But only if all your components are "Best buys" in their price range. (Incidentally, if you buy something at Tech Hifi and you're not perfectly happy with it, you can return it within seven days for a full refund).
What can you get at Tech Hifi for a little money? Glad you asked that question, because we have a good example.
At The Hifi Show this week you can hear a true high fidelity system at a truly affordable price of $299. You could spend days shopping around in every place that sells stereo, and we guarantee you won't find a better-sounding music system for the money. It features the famous and powerful Pioneer 434 am/fm stereo receiver; the reliable BSR 2260BX automatic turntable; and startling ADC XT-6 loudspeakers which are small enough to fit in your bookshelves, yet capable of roof-raising volume. Also included are a base, dustcover and ADC induced-magnetic cartridge.
Before you spend a lot of money on stereo, spend a free evening this week at The Hifi Show.

We have been soliciting dwelling listings over the last few weeks. Our supply of homes had reached a dangerous low. We need more, so if you have a house to sell, please tell us. An odd result of the campaign, has been that we have been presented with several excellent land listings. They are very good opportunities. The situation reminds one of the "acres of diamonds" theme. Opportunity is at your feet!! Read this and think!

HOPEWELL TOWNSHIP - 32 acres, wooded and rocky, no frontage. Asking $2,000/acre.

HAMILTON TOWNSHIP - Industrial - loads of frontage on Route 130. Make us an offer!!

LOWER MAKEFIELD TOWNSHIP - Residential, prime area, 26 acres - Owner may consider subdivision.

Sermon on World Brotherhood Led Princeton School Principal To Use Sabbatical Teaching Jamaicans How to Teach Science

If you're a school teacher on the island of Jamaica, you probably haven't gone beyond high school yourself. You know almost nothing of science. Therefore you don't teach science.

Or you didn't, that is, until Gene Biringer came along.

Eugene Biringer, principal of Community Park School, spent his sabbatical last semester showing public elementary school teachers in Jamaica how to teach science.

"I knew I had a sabbatical coming up and I wanted to give some kind of service, rather than just study," Mr. Biringer begins. "My wife, Madeline, who has done a great deal of volunteer library work, felt the same way."

After the Biringers heard a sermon in their Lutheran church on the World Brotherhood Exchange, they decided this was the avenue to follow, and to their astonishment and delight, they were told of a school in Jamaica that needed someone to help with curriculum, and someone to help with library work.

They were assigned to Knox College, a private school in Spaldings, in the mountainous interior of the island-- elev. 3,500 feet. Knox, although it's called a "college" in the British fashion, teaches children from the age of 5 through the first year of college, the so-called British "A" level. In addition, Knox had a community college, a vocational school where islanders could learn home-making, electronics, wood-working, sheet-metal work, and the like.

Two Shifts a Day. At this college, Mr. Biriniger inaugurated an in-service course for teachers in the 13 public schools of the Spaldings area, teaching 38 teachers in two full-day shifts.

DRUMS FROM HAITI: Jimmy Moise, left, fifth grader who was Community Park's first Haitian student a few years ago, joins Joshua Cohen, center, on the conga drums while Eugene Biringer looks on. Both boys were programmed for an assembly this Wednesday featuring Haitian parents Fritz Massenat, Elizabeth Moise and Rose Romain of Princeton, describing their youth in Haiti. Mr. Biringer was a neighbor of Haiti last spring during a February 1- June 15 sabbatical in Jamaica.

"You can't believe their enthusiasm for what I had to show them!" Mr. Biringer says. "They couldn't get enough-- I had to pry them away from one activity so that we could begin another. They simply soaked it all up."

Except for knowledge of plant and animal life on the tropical island-- "a beautiful, beautiful place!" Mr. Biringer exclaims-- these teachers knew almost no science.

"I developed many 'hands-on' projects, things they could make themselves out of old detergent bottles, string, scrap wood, ice-cream sticks, or whatever they found on the ground."

"A hygrometer, for example," and the principal tears a strip of oak-tag paper and rolls it tightly. "Anchor one end, put a thin piece of palm into the other end, place it on a wet-dry dial. As moisture expands the paper, it moves to the wet side. It's so effective it startled me!"

Anemometers of plastic cups; weather-vanes from a pin, a straw, paper and a detergent bottle...

Combatting Erosion. Erosion is a problem for Spaldings farmers who must work steep hillsides. Mr. Biringer got a piece of roofing tin, arranged it at an angle and covered it with dirt to make a classroom-size hillside. Pour water down and see what rain does. How can you figure out ways to handle that hillside so the dirt won't wash away?

"I told them the only way farmers will accept soil control is for them, as teachers, to teach it to their young students."

When he wasn't teaching, or testing his "found" equipment, Mr. Biringer was visiting the 13 schools, consulting with teachers who wanted more help, teaching five workshops in Jamaica's new teachers colleges around the island.

A potter by talent and avocation, Mr. Biringer built a potters wheel, scavenging for rough lumber (which he planed himself), pouring the concrete kick-wheel, making his own pipe fittings. It's now at Knox, as a Biringer legacy.

News Of The THEATRES

DOUBLE BILL

At McCarter. Unwinding the film for the start of a new season, McCarter begins with a double bill -- "The Conversation" and "Chinatown."

Both will be shown this Friday and Saturday, "The Conversation" at 7 and "Chinatown" at 9.

Gene Hackman, in Francis Ford Coppola's "The Conversation," is an "electronic surveillance technician." Jack Nicholson, in Polanski's "Chinatown," is a detective, with Faye Dunaway as the mysterious Woman in the Case.

Pre-season film revivals will continue next Friday, September 24, with Antonioni's "The Passenger" (7 and 9) and Saturday with Woody Allen's "Love and Death" at 7, 8:30 and 10.

Single admissions to the double feature go on sale at the McCarter Box - office starting at 10 a.m. the day of the screenings.

"SLEUTH"

"Royal Flash:" on Film. Theatre Intime will start off its Fall Film Series with a pair of modern nifties, "Sleuth" and "Royal Flash." They will be shown this Friday and Saturday at 8, 10 and midnight in Murray Theatre, which is air - conditioned.

"Sleuth" is the film version of Anthony Shaffer's award - winner, a murder mystery which is also a deadly contest of wit between two brilliant and clever gentlemen. Michael Caine and Sir Lawrence Olivier are the protagonists.

"Royal Flash," a 19th - century adventure story, is fashioned after "Tom Jones" and the recent Musketeer films. Malcolm McDowell plays the hero — sort of — who is both coward and rogue. Lots of lively encounters with royalty and the peasants.

CONCERT AT DILLON

Judy Collins Due Oct. 2. Judy Collins will visit Princeton for her first concert appearance in six years on Saturday, October 2. She'll step into the spotlight at Dillon Gym on the Princeton University campus at 8 p.m. McCarter Theatre is the sponsor, and tickets are for sale there.

Collins first studied piano with teacher-conductor Antonia Brico, who was later the subject of Collins' prize - winning film, "Antonia." She won attention as a singer during the folk - music boom of the early 1960's, and her 15th album, "Bread and Roses," is moving up on the best - seller charts.

AUDUBON FILMS SET

By Naturalist Group. The Trenton Naturalist Club has again scheduled a series of Audubon Wildlife Films narrated and presented in person by the author of each film at the Kirby Arts Center on the Lawrenceville School campus. The first film, which will be shown on Monday, October 4, at 8 is Burdette White's "Vanishing American Wildlife."

There are approximately 104 species of fauna in the United States listed as endangered. Mr. White, a native of California who has made his love of nature the focus of his life, has become increasingly concerned about the depletion of these species. He and his wife have invested much time, travel and energy in producing a program which would feature the threatened U.S. wildlife, explain some of the reasons for the predicament of these species and offer suggestions for their preservation.

Other films, scheduled on November 10, January 5, February 18 and March 21, are Norm Wakeman's "Pacific Shores," Stephen Kress' "Bird Islands of the North Atlantic," Stefan Kling's "The Vanishing Eden" and Harry Pederson's "Four Fathom World."

The Trenton Naturalist Club is a non-profit organization which also schedules a variety of nature trips for its members, such as hikes to a mountain ridge to see hawks

THE CIRCUS IS COMING Monday, September 27. Hoxie's Great American Circus will revive memories of one-day road shows when it comes to West Windsor Monday, September 27. Performances at the corner of Hightstown and Clarksville roads will be given at 4 and 8 p.m., sponsored by the Princeton Chamber of Commerce.

A major attraction will be Kongo, a giant ape who weighs over a quarter of a ton and reputedly has the strength of 21 men. His head is as big as a bushel basket, his fingers are as large as a child's wrist and he has an arm reach of over nine feet.

Kongo is insured for $65,000 and travels in a special 40-foot steel-barred air conditioned cage. A jungle-like atmosphere of 75 degrees and 50 percent humidity is maintained at all times.

Kongo has been known to eat 40 pounds of bananas at one time. He also eats apples, oranges, pears, lettuce, milk, and is fond of peanut butter and jelly sandwiches.

In addition to Kongo, Hoxie's Circus features a lion who rides a horse, and a lion trainer who puts his head in the lion's mouth. Rick Paska and his performing elephants, the balancing Gungas of India, the Kneisleys and Donna Wilson with aerial and trapeze acts, Alberto's Performing Canines, and other traditional circus acts.

Advance sale tickets may be purchased at a saving at Hinkson's and Stone's Linen on Nassau Street and Polly's Candy on Palmer Square, or through any member of the Chamber of Commerce. Priced at $1.50 for children under 12, and $2.50 for those 12 and over, they are 50 cents less than those sold at the performances.

PINTER, EXTENDED

At Princeton Inn College. The inaugural production of the season for Princeton Inn College Theatre, Harold Pinter's "The Lover," has been granted an extended run. It will be presented this Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. (Admission: $1) in the theatre on Alexander Street.

Boomie Pedersen and Christopher Baumer, from last year's Princeton Inn Shakespeare Players, portray the suburban couple who act out Pinter's black comedy. The play was originally written for British television and was directed in its first staging by Pinter himself.

Future PCI productions include a pair of contemporary one-act comedies and, in the spring, a Shakespearean comedy.

"BALLAD" TO TOUR

In George Street Production. "Ballad for Americans," in the dramatization by the George Street Playhouse, New Brunswick, has been chosen by the New Jersey State Bicentennial Celebration Commission as the only theatre piece to be presented as part of the state - wide bicentennial celebration.

The commission plans a tour of New Jersey between December 26 and January 6, stopping in places of historic importance in commemoration of the "ten critical days."

"Ballad," in this production, was first presented at the Playhouse last May. Adaptations required for the statewide presentation include the addition of half an hour of dialogue, and music to the existing hour - long production. Sam Maupin, who did the original piece, will do the adaptation as well.

"Ballad for Americans" was originally a 12-minute song, written by the team of Robinson and Latouche. It became popular in the 1940's as sung by the late Paul Robeson.

WANT TO EXHIBIT?

In New Brunswick Gallery. The gallery of the George Street Playhouse in New Brunswick will re-open with the opening night of "That Championship Season" on October 8.

The gallery, directed by Suzanne Karp Krebs, will hold a new exhibit with every major production done at the Playhouse. Artists are invited to take their portfolios to Ms. Krebs at the Playhouse, 414 George Street, New Brunswick, this Wednesday or Thursday at 7 p.m.

Because of space limitations, artists are asked to submit only graphics, photography, small paintings and such crafts as weaving and macrame.

The first exhibit will feature Ms. Krebs own photographs. She has exhibited at the Soho Photo Foundation in New York, has done theatre photography, and taught for seven years in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, using cameras as a tool for teaching reading.

PRINCE

Obsession. Steeped in the tradition of tension and uncertainity that Alfred Hitchcock has made his very own province, "Obsession" is a taut, masterfully-concocted and consistently fascinating romantic suspense drama,

Cliff Robertson, in what might prove to be the finest performance of his career, is a guilt-ridden New Orleans businessman who encounters an exact double of his late wife 16 years after she and his daughter perished during a kidnap caper in which he botched the ransom. Genevieve Bujold gives a superb performance as Robertson's first wife and her exact double, a young Italian art student whom he meets on a business trip to Florence. Robertson first sees her in the Florentine church where he had originally met his wife.

He becomes obsessed by her, intent on recreating her into the one true love of his life. After a convoluted progression of events that Hitchcock would have admired, his plans to marry the girl are quashed when a second kidnapping gives him a chance to exorcise those 16 years of guilt. As loose ends are tied up, the film accelerates to a smashing climax.

Misty Beethoven. A fledgling Parisian hooker is transformed into the sexual goddess of the jet set in this X-rated, hardcore "updating" of "Pygmalion." There is more than enough action, attractive bodies and successive doses of every variety of sex to satisfy most porno buffs. Filmed on location in Paris, Rome and New York, "Misty" proves that the Pygmalion legend can be fleshed out a good deal beyond "My Fair Lady."

How to Make a Book

"Make a Book," a special event for children at the Princeton Art Association, will be held on Saturday from 10 to 1.

Elizabeth Monath, printmaker, children's book illustrator, and instructor at the PAA, will show young people 8 to 12 how to make a folding, Oriental-style book, illustrating a poem or story of their choice or invention. The demonstration is open to all with no advance registration required. Children are asked to bring colored magic markers and a sandwich for the lunch-break.

NEW SEASON NEARS

For University Concerts. The 1976-1977 season of the Princeton University Concerts, now in their 83rd year of existence, will open October 11.

Series I will open with a staged and costumed version of the "Roman de Fauvel," a unique 14th century French collection of poetry and music, performed by the Waverly Consort, under Michael Jaffe's direction. On another occasion, Robert Miller, pianist, will offer a program of American piano music, from Gershwin to Babbitt.

Mr. Miller, a 1952 Princeton graduate and a lawyer practicing in New York, is a brilliant pianist whose three-recital series last year in Tully Hall elicited the highest praise from all critics. The New York Times wrote:".... a staggering display of virtuosity ... a rare combination of grace, beauty of tone, elegance of phrasing and powerful intellectual control."

The third concert in Series I will be the Philharmonia Orchestra at Yale, Otto-Werner Mueller, conductor, and Phyllis Curtin, soprano solist. A full symphony orchestra, they will present Brahms' "Symphony No. 3", Hindemith; "Mathis de Mahler" and excerpts from Berg's "Wozzeck." The University Concerts will welcome back the Bach Aria Group as the fourth concert in Series I.

Composed of world-famous instrumental and vocal soloists, they will perform arias and duets from the cantatas of J.S. Bach.

Series II season will be dedicated to the works of Beethoven and Brahms with artists who are well-known interpreters of these composers: The Juilliard Quartet (who will include two works of Schubert in their program), Jacob Lateiner, Pianist, Syoko Aki, Violinist and The New Hungarian Quartet.

Dates of the Series I concerts are October 11, November 8, December 13 and February 7. Series II concerts will be held on October 18, December 27, March 14 and April 11. All concerts are on Monday nights at McCarter Theatre.

Subscriptions are now available at the Concert Office, Music Department,

TWO TEACHERS ADDED

To Piano Group. Doris Allen, director of the Princeton Piano group, has announced the addition of two new members to the cooperative teaching staff, Mrs. Teresa Patrick of Princeton and Don Greenfield of Cranbury. Now in its fourth year, the Piano Group combines the teaching talents of six pianists to offer group and private study to students of all ages and levels of study.

Ms. Patrick, a graduate of the Julliard School of Music who has concertized since age 12, will teach beginning lessons for children. A vocal and instrumental accompanist, she is also a dance accompanist for Princeton University's program in theatre and dance and is in charge of the artist auditions for Young Audiences of Central New Jersey.

Mr. Greenfield, a Ph. D. candidate in music at Princeton, is returning from a year of study in Germany. A former music reviewer for TOWN TOPICS, he has appeared with Musica Alta and other groups as pianist and bassoonist.

Ms. Allen recently received a master's degree in piano pedagogy from Goddard College and was awarded a fellowship to study at the international Delcroze workshop in Pennsylvania during the summer. She concentrates on group instruction for all levels and offers private lessons to advanced students. Other teachers include Laura Hayes, former head of music at Stuart Country Day School; Joanne Widman of Kendall Park who returns to assist Mrs. Allen in group work and intermediate teaching; and Marion Tigner, a former elementary school teacher.

Lessons and classes are held at the Unitarian Church on Cherry Hill Road. The fall term will open September 20, and further information is available at 924-9406.

Mr. Alexander, director of the Research Citizens' Foundation, is a former teacher in the department of politics at Princeton University and the University of Pennsylvania. The College Club, founded in 1916, is an organization of women college graduates who live in the Princeton area or near-by communities and meets on the third Monday of each month at All Saints' Church.

Members are also invited to participate in a variety of special interest groups, including art, bridge, current book review, French reading and conversation, handicrafts, Tuesday study group and evening pot-pourri. Soroptimist International will hold its annual "Woman of the Year" dinner at the Nassau Inn on Tuesday at 7. This year the club will honor Zelda Laschever of 39 Scott Lane.

Mrs. Laschever, who was co-founder and co-director of the Princeton Junior Museum of the 1960s, is known for the many "do it yourself" exhibits she coordinated in the public schools, as well as the portfolio by the Princeton Bicentennial Printmakers depicting various aspects of Princeton's role in America's history she organized in 1974. A second portfolio, "The Ten Crucial Days," which focuses on the period from December 26, 1776, to January 3, 1777 has been on view at the Newark Museum and will also be used as part of the State Museum's Children's Bicentennial Learning Environment which opens in December. This "hands-on" exhibit will feature the work of school children.

ART In Princeton

THE FALL SCENE

Photography at Squibb. In the not too distant past, photography for the non-professional, and often the professional as well, was a collection of remembered moments in which the value of the content far outweighed that of the style. The trip to the seashore, weddings, sunsets and baby's first tooth were recorded with equal aplomb.

Improved technology, education and media impact have all combined to expand the degree of sophistication and style to be found among photographers and their audiences. Concern with composition, light, texture and aesthetic effect has become a matter of import for the hobbyist as well as his professional counterpart. The photograph as an expressive art form is widely considered and frequently implemented in home darkrooms as well as major photographers' studios.

The current E.R. Squibb juried employee photography exhibit illustrates the improved level of quality and creative affect involved in photography today. The collection includes a wide range of subject and approach in color, black and white and color slides. The 104 included prints were chosen from a large number of entries by Howard Chapnik and Yukiko Launois of Black Star, an internationally noted photography studio.

Although most of the work has been created by the non-professional with a few professional entries, the quality is good and includes many works that deal with subject and light in a highly creative manner together with many that demonstrate a good deal of technical expertise. Nature studies, travel notes and a great many figurative works in color and black and white display the possibilities of the camera as a creative vehicle as well as one of record.

At the University Art Museum. The Pearlman Collection, a major assemblage of post-impressionist and 20th century paintings, is on loan to the University Art Museum for the next two years. Although the collection was seen several years ago in its entirety, it is again on view, but this time will be displayed in small, selective groupings. It is not only an unusually dynamic and important collection of major paintings but a testimony to the taste and perspicacity of Henry Pearlman.

Whereas most major collections are assembled for scholarly or economic reasons, the paintings in this collection were assembled by Pearlman on a basis of his own taste. He selected works that pleased him and allowed his instincts to guide him in gathering a cohesive and dramatic assemblage of many of the world's most beautiful paintings.

On view at the present time are figurative works and landscape. A portrait of Pearlman by the expressionist Oskar Kokoschka overlooks smaller portraits and figure studies by major nineteenth century painters who were the aesthetic ancestors of Kokoschka.

Portraits by Courbet, Daumier, Manet and Cezanne, bathers by Degas and figurative works by Toulouse Lautrec and Gauguin demonstrate the then radical ways with color, brushwork and form that gave rise to the even more radical artistic manners of the 20th century. Landscapes by Vuillard and Van Gogh and a Pisarro still life demonstrate other aspects of the creative dynamism of this period. Color excitement, liberties taken with subject matter and an overall visual richness that is typical of this era are displayed in varying ways in this small, very fine grouping.

At the Eye for Art. The artist in 19th century America reached his widest audience through the pages of the weekly magazine. Several publications which included fiction, fashion and timely articles were illustrated by the wood engravings of major artists of the day. The artist assumed the role of both illustrator and social historian much in the same way as the news photographer today.

Thure de Thulstrupp, a Swedish topographical engraver, found his way to the pages of Harpers' Weekly near the end of the 19th century. Although not as well known as many of his contemporaries, he was prolific and popular and his renderings of life during that time were frequently published.

The collection now on display at the Eye for Art includes a great many views of the recreational activities of proper society. Polo matches, life at Newport, Atlantic City and other noted spas, yachting activities, travel and Saturday night at the Players Club are all recorded with an eye for fashion as well as form. More pedestrian activities, also recorded included coach stops on the Post Road, firemen dealing with a blaze and various shipboard scenes. Political activities and politicians are included in the display.

At Gallery 100. Watercolor paintings by Peggy Hansen include a wide range of traditional subjects rendered in a technically competent manner. The artist focuses mainly on still life and floral studies exhibiting a great deal of control over her medium. Color is naturalistic as is the rendering of the subjects.

Hansen demonstrates a special feeling for her subject in many of her flower studies. Combinations of crisp, clear color and muted washes lend a poetic tone to paintings often executed on textured soft papers.

At Grovers Mill Graphics. Prints and paintings by a collection of new artists are included among new works by 25 gallery artists. Vincent Ceglia had added fluid figurative studies and new landscapes executed in loose washes.

Acrylic paintings by Jack McLaughlin combine interesting paint use and sensitive construction. Watercolors by Clifford Winner Jr. and Pat Tindall are also on view. The gallery display includes many styles ranging from highly realistic to studies in space and color, executed in paint, print and pencil.

FALL CLASSES PLANNED

By Color Wheel. With the approach of a new season, the Color Wheel, 23B West Delaware Avenue, Pennington, has planned several fall art classes.

Both evening and daytime classes will be offered in drawing and oil or acrylic painting. An evening class taught by Harry McCandless will deal entirely with watercolor painting and techniques.

Linda Osborne, well-known area painter, will be conducting Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning painting classes. Classes are limited to eight students.

Drawing in pencil, charcoal and pen and ink will be taught by Pat Hutchinson, on Monday evenings and Tuesday mornings. Students at all levels of experience are welcome. All courses will meet once a week for eight weeks in a 2½-hour session. Examples of the work of these three artists are currently on display at the Color Wheel Gallery, open daily 9:30 to 5, except Mondays.

SHOW OPENS SUNDAY

Princetonian tocluded. The Jinglestone Gallery in Sergeantsville will begin its third year on Sunday with a show entitled "Watercolors: Three Approaches to the Medium."

The artists are Dorothy W. Bissell, Princeton; Marbury H. Brown, Flemington; and Ken Vieth, Rosemont. Each artist's work demonstrates a different way of working with watercolors, both in subject matter and in technique.

Mrs. Bissell has a varied and interesting background in art. She is a graduate of Finch College and the Parsons School (where she was on the faculty), and studied with such noted artists as Randolph Bye and Wolf Kahn. In addition, she has taught painting at the Princeton Art Association and schools in the Princeton Area.

Mrs. Bissell also is active as an art therapist in hospitals and prisons. She has exhibited in numerous galleries in the northeast, and has been a consistent prize winner at juried shows, including the Philadelphia Art Museum.

Marbury Brown currently works as a free-lance illustrator in New York City. His works are represented in the permanent collections of the Houston Contemporary Arts Museum, the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, and the Charles and Emma Frye Museum (Seattle), as well as in many private collections.

He is a member -- and prize-winner -- of the American Watercolor Society, and is a board member of the Society of Illustrators in New York. He has taught at the Pratt Institute and has lectured at the Parsons School.

Ken Vieth is a versatile artist, active in different media. He has exhibited collage, fiber glass castings, and wood carvings (in addition to watercolors and oils), and also does pottery, weaving, and brass sculpture.

After obtaining his fine arts and Bachelor degrees, Vieth studied in Europe during the summers of 1971 through 1974. He recently completed a commission for the Pebble Hill Church, Doylestown, Pa.

The public is invited to meet the artists at a reception at the Gallery on Sunday from 5 until 7. Regular gallery hours are Wednesday through Sunday, 12 to 5. The show will run through October.

The Jinglestone Gallery is located at the blinker in Sergeantsville, midway between Stockton and Flemington on Route 523. Jinglestone Antiques, in the same building, features American furniture and accessories of the 18th and early 19th centuries.

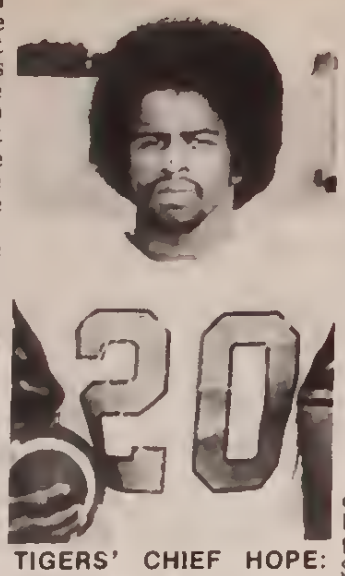
Earliest Opening in Tiger Football History Set for Saturday against Cornell at Ithaca

A Princeton football team hoping to restore a dependable running game to its attack but relying on three sophomores in the heart of its offensive line will open its 1976 season Saturday against Cornell at Ithaca. If the early-line estimates of Ivy League standings are correct, the loser will finish in the cellar.

The contest will mark the first time since they began playing the sport 107 years ago that the Tigers have scheduled a game just 18 days into the month of September. All league teams will be in action against one another this weekend, with Princeton's traditional home opener against Rutgers set for the following Saturday.



TIGERS' CHIEF HOPE: The fine open field running skills of Mike Carter, now a flanker back, may be the key to a Princeton victory at Ithaca.

When the Orange and Black runs its first play, its quarterback will experience his baptism of fire at the varsity level. A senior (Jack Flannery), a junior (Kirby Lockhart) and a sophomore (Steve Garza) have been the leading candidates for the job, with Flannery, a jayvee for the past two seasons, expected to start. Lockhart, good as a freshman but injured all of last year with a severe muscle problem in his shoulder, will be his principal backup.

If the signal-caller will be new to his task, there is plenty of experience among the other backs. Senior Art Walker, a 210-lb. fullback, has two letters to his credit after considerable reserve duty and will execute his blocking chores skillfully when not hammering the middle of the line.

Carter a Major Threat. Mike Carter, a regular last fall at halfback and a two-year letterman who has seen heavy duty on kickoff and punt returns, will operate as the flanker. If Flannery finds him as the target on his passes with any frequency, Princeton's yardage gained will benefit from his speed and elusiveness.

Bobby Isom, Carter's replacement last year in his first season on the varsity, will start at halfback. Like Carter, he can break away for long gainers if the blocking is adequate. Reserves who help make the backfield one of the Tigers' best bets for a respectable season are sophomore Ken Foote, a 207-lb. fullback who will spell Walker; Mike Howard, who will back up Isom following his return to the sport after a year's absence from college; Glenn Robinson, a junior letterman, and sophomore John Anderson, flanker backs in relief of Carter.

There is good experience at both extremities of the offensive line, with two-year lettermen available at each spot. One is Captain Dan Fournier, a 6-2, 210-lb. split end who is a standout receiver and capable blocker; the other, 6-4, 228-lb. Todd Jacobson, who has won the job at tight end.

After that, however, only senior Kevin Fox, switched from tackle to guard this fall, has much playing time to his credit. Junior Bill Leoniy, a letterman who gave a good account of himself in a reserve capacity last fall, has provided the ability to permit Fox to fill one of the gaps at guard.

Newcomers Up Front. The three sophomores who will start are John Freker, 6-3, 220, converted from guard as a freshman to center; Greg Bauman, 6-4, 220, converted from tackle to guard to pair with Fox; and Dan Friel, 6-5, 230, a defensive tackle switched to the other side of the line to bolster the offense. Friel has unusual promise and can be spared from the defensive unit because of above-average ability at the tackle slots there.

This is the unit on whose progress success of the 1976 season at Princeton largely depends. The Orange and Black could not achieve a satisfactory record last year while quarterback Ron Beible was pitching his way into the record book, and since neither Flannery or Lockhart are expected to match his passing ability, a running game with considerable authority is essential.

Defense Holds Promise. Fortunately for Princeton, there is clear-cut defensive ability on hand, particularly among the front four and at linebacker. Top players are the tackles, All-Ivy Ted Schiller and senior classmate Steve Fletcher, who may be the best pair at this position among the Ivies. With them up front will be Tim Earley, a junior letterman, and two-year letterman Hank Howarth. Both have seen steady action as defensive ends.

John Petercuskie, the defensive coordinator, will pay particular attention to the performance of senior Marc Fiorvanti at middle guard, a spot the Tigers need to man with skill if the defense functions properly. Fiorvanti has been moved into the starting berth on a basis of pre-season practice, but until he does well in game action, the position remains a source of concern.

Seniors Steve Lang, a real standout, and Paul McKeon are the linebackers, with Larry Lutz, a 1975 reserve, and Kevin Hagerty, who won his letter as a sophomore last fall, at the corners. Pete Bartlett, a senior who won a letter last fall, and Dave Powers, up from the jayvees, will fill the safety slots in the deep secondary.

The barefooted Mike Stein, back after a year's absence, should execute the punting assignment with considerable skill, especially when the coffin corner is his target. Chris Howe, placekicker for the freshmen last fall, will handle the kickoffs, points after touchdown and field goal attempts. His ability will be vital to the Tigers' success, since Scott Morrison, whose kicking made the difference in two of the four games Princeton won last fall, has graduated.

CORNELL SHAKY, TOO

Red Was 1-8 a Year Ago. If Princeton is entering a new season beset with doubts, Cornell has reason for even greater concern. Under second-year coach George Seifert, who came from Stanford in 1975, the Red will come into the contest Saturday with a seven-game losing streak. After dropping its opener last fall to Colgate, Cornell beat Bucknell and then lost every one of its Ivy games, three of them by margins of 20 points or more.

The long-search for a quarterback may have ended before the season did -- at least the Ithacans will begin Saturday with one who has seen varsity action. The job has gone to Jay LaRochelle, a senior who showed well in the defeats by Dartmouth and Penn.

Halfback Tim LaBeau is the principal ball carrier, with a converted flanker, Dave Tretter, ready to start at fullback. In another switch, Seifert has converted Joe Mollica, one of his three quarterbacks during the 1975 season, to flanker.

With 29 lettermen returning, Cornell has better balance and greater depth than Princeton. The distribution is such that a letter-winner is available at every position, another factor working in Cornell's favor, as is the site of the game and the PolyTurf on Schoellkopf Field.

Princeton's edge appears to lie in the quality of its running backs and the skill of its receivers, plus the opportunity to keep the loser's label pinned on Cornell if it can gain an early edge. For the beaten team on Saturday, the road ahead will be very, very long, and could quite conceivably have an 0-for-9 sign at the end of it.

QUICK LOOK AT CORNELL

OFFENSE: Being rebuilt and accordingly lacks authority Topflight quarterback, breakaway ball carriers appear to be missing but line has edge in experience over Tigers

DEFENSE: Two-deep in lettermen at several positions but must prove itself after disastrous 1975 season.

CHIEF THREAT: If defense can handle Princeton's questionable attack, Cornell could win low-scoring game

CHIEF PROBLEM: Lack of ability to defeat Ivy opponent since October '74

TYPE OF ATTACK: Pro set.

SPORTS FANS! I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you By John Bernard

Here's a football question with a surprising answer... Which college has had the most All-America players over the years?... It's not Notre Dame or Oklahoma or any Big Ten, West Coast or Southern school as you might think... It's Yale... The reason is that in the first 40 years of football almost all players selected to the All-America were from either Yale, Harvard or Princeton and it was not unusual in those days for Yale to have 4 or 5 players on the All-America every season... But it's still surprising that in all these years no school has been able to catch up to Yale.

Of all the field goal kickers in the National Football League, which one has the best lifetime percentage of successful kicks?... Answer is Don Cockroft of the Browns who's made over 68 percent of his field goal attempts to top all current NFL kickers.

Oddly enough, the man who's led the National Football League in passing statistics the last 2 seasons, Ken Anderson of Cincinnati, did not even get a football scholarship when he went to college... He went to college on a basketball scholarship--yet wound up being one of the leading quarterbacks in pro football!

PHS in Search for Capable Linemen as Football Season Nears

This is the second of three articles on prospects of the 1976 PHS football team.)

In the past five years, the Princeton High School football team has won 41 percent of its games. It fell below .500 (18-26) mainly because of a strife-torn 1971 season when it lost every game on its schedule.

Traditionally, it has always done well on the gridiron, despite playing such larger schools as Trenton, Steinert, Hamilton and Ewing year after year. Dick Wood, predecessor to PHS football coach Jim Beachell (Wood incidentally, was coach when Beachell co-captained the 1964 Little Tiger team) had only four losing seasons in his 12 as head coach.

But Beachell and his staff have been hard pressed to maintain past triumphs. As the school enrollment has declined, squads have become smaller. "We're now totally dependent on Princeton residents," said Beachell. He reported that there are about 80 boys in the senior class, one of the smallest male enrollments ever.

Princeton High does not benefit from feeder schools that pump young players grounded in fundamentals into Ewing and Hamilton high schools. Nor does it benefit as much as one might expect from the Midget Football League here.

Good Linemen Scarce. "Most of the kids we get are backs, because linemen," explained Beachell – "those who are any good – are excluded by the 125-pound league weight limit."

Some of these influences are reflected in the present Little Tiger line. It is one of speed, not of beef. It is inexperienced.

Overall, Beachell commented that he didn't see a weak line as much as one with a total lack of experience. "I'm not worried about making-up for lack of size...if we work hard we'll be able to put it together.

"We'll beat some schools off our quickness. It will be a quick line. We have a quick team, period." Quickness, insisted Beachell, "will beat size any day of the week."

More Pulling and Trapping. Because of the lightness, Frank Francisco, Beachell's top assistant, reports that the Little Tigers will do a lot more trapping and pulling this year. "We have to. The kids are small. They can't go head to head all day against bigger players."

Unlike the backfield, which appears to be set except at quarterback, the line represents an unknown, although veterans Jim O'Grady, Mike Long, Jean-Paul Mamon and Eric Suber are certain to see a lot of action.

If games are won in the trenches, as some maintain, Beachell has a lot of putting together to do until the home opener Monday, September 27, against Lakewood. A third and final pre-season scrimmage will be held Saturday against Freehold Borough in Freehold.

A run-down of the candidates for the line positions:

Center. Cory Easter, a 5-8, 155-lb. junior, is the only one with any experience at the position. Although Beachell acknowledged that Easter "has the inside track" because of this, he commented that the spot was virtually an open position.

Other junior contenders are Kariem ElMeligi, Bill Ogilvie, Chris McDonald and Mike Henninger. The latter is 250, 5-11. Sophomores being considered on the pre-season charts are twins Cal and Jim Harris and Tom Treiman.

Guards. One fixture is co-captain Jim O'Grady. Beachell described the senior veteran as "tough, quick and intelligent. Definitely the best thinker on the line," he added.

Mike Long, also a senior, is 5-10, 180 and lettered as a sophomore. Long will be pressed by three juniors, Brian Cleveland, John Morris and Chris Morris.

Four more junior candidates are Dean Boyer, Mike King (new to football), Rick Lovering and Anthony Intartaglia. The latter, said Beachell, saw limited experience as a sophomore but has grown duriog the year. He looks for solid improvement.

Sophomores being considered are Paul Bessire, Jim Harris and Greg Davidson. "Gung-ho and gutsy" were the tags placed on Davidson.

Tackles. Three seniors head the list, two of them labeled "definite starters" by Beachell. They are Jean-Paul Maman, the biggest player on the squad at 6-5, 215 lbs., and Eric Suber, a 6-3, 190 lb. veteran. Both are among 13 returning lettermen.

Five juniors listed on the charts are Peter Gorman, 6-0, 150 lb., John Morris, Chris Morris, Henninger and ElMeligi. Although he did not letter, Chris Morris played both ways at tackle last year, and Beachell is high on the 6-0, 200 lb. prospect.

Sophomores are Jordan

Good News and (Inevitably) Bad News

The defense was ahead of the offense and the timing on the passing was off.

Both are expected early in the season, but what surprised Princeton High football coach Jim Beachell after his team's first scrimmage here Saturday against Manalapan was the play of the line, which was better than he expected, and the progress of his backs which was a disappointment.

Overall, however, Beachell reported that he was satisfied with his first team's effort. "I feel better than I did a week ago," he said. The younger players were not coming along as fast, he added, as he had hoped.

The Little Tigers gained a little over 200 yards running on some 45 plays, Beachell said, "which isn't too bad considering the younger teams were involved." One was an 80-yard gallop by Tony Strong on a "picture-perfect" play.

Beachell said that he was pleased with the play of Todd Blackledge "who did a nice job at quarterback for a sophomore" and that of senior quarterback Scott Thompson. "They're neck and neck."

Beachell also singled out the blocking of transfer student Ron Reimann and the defensive play of safety Tom Hagadorn. Hagadorn is a transfer student from Notre Dame.

Paul, 6-0, 170; Geoff Shipman, Gabe Sasso, Elio Pirone and Dan Cowan. Dan is the brother of Dave Cowan, an outstanding lineman on the 1972 Little Tiger team.

"The middle three positions are all wide open as far as back-up goes," observed Beachell. "It's there for anybody who wants it."

Tight End. Ron Reimann, played tight end as a junior on a championship team in Minnesota last year. Beachell is counting heavily on the transfer student to help the Little Tigers at tight end or as a swing back. He is 5-10, 170.

Juniors include Chris Cahill, who lettered as a junior playing mostly on defense; Tom Breithaupt and Randy Glas. Robert Cook and Phil Clark are two sophomores vying for the position. None of the candidates is very tall, Beachell reported, but "all are hard workers."

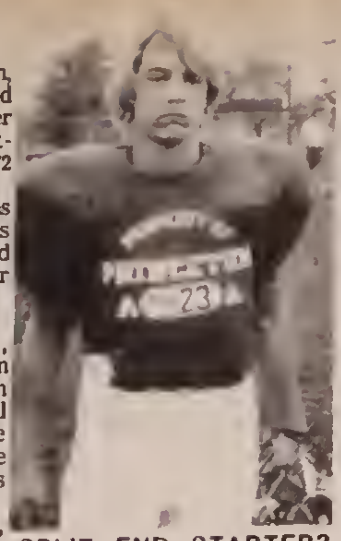
Split End. Senior Bill Schmiedeskamp, 5-9, 160, has more experience than anyone else at the position and has, says Beachell, "good hands." Luther McKeller, another senior, has tons of desire but is handicapped by his small (5-3) size. Probably the toughest small competitor on the team, remarked Beachell. "He hits like a ton of bricks."

Juniors are Mike Fuschini, small for an end but possessing good hands; Adam Bierman, sidelined last year with an operation; and Robert Ayling, a newcomer. Jeff Raser and Tom Lion are the sophomore candidates.

Next week: The Outlook.

HUN DIAGNOSED

Small Squad, Outlook Guarded. "We've always had a problem with depth," said Hun School football coach Dave Leete this week, a comment echoed by many prep school coaches.



SPLIT END STARTER? Senior Bill Schmiedeskamp has more experience than six other candidates vying for the split end starting berth on the PHS football team. He is 5-9, 160.

But this season, says Leete, the depth problem is more serious than ever. Thirty-five candidates answered the September 1 call to practice and that number has since been reduced to 30. "You can't go much smaller," added Leete, who is starting his 14th year as a Hun coach. He's been head football coach since 1969.

Despite the thinness, despite losing his entire starting backfield, Leete is nonetheless guardedly optimistic about the 1976 season. "If we stay healthy, we're going to win our share," he said.

From a team that was 6-2 last year – Hun won the A Division League Championship which consists of Blair, Newark Academy, Delbarton, Pingry, Admiral Farragut and Hun – Leete welcomes back eight returning lettermen, including co-captains Tim Teel, a halfback, and tackle Keith MacEwan. The depth problem is really a lack of any backup players, Leete acknowledged.

Other seniors back are Scott Smith, 170-lb. guard and a starter last year, Bob Cottrell and Stef Nyktas, the latter two defensive halfbacks and ends. Junior lettermen include center Sal Ammirata, guard Bob Cronin, 190, and Brian Lee, last year's backup to quarterback Nick Brady.

Heading the list of those expected to help out this year is Dave Dudeck, a post grad student from Notre Dame who sat out the season last year. A halfback, he is 180 "and fast", said Leete.

Seniors, who did not letter, include Llew Royal, a halfback; Ted Ruckstuhl, a tackle; and split ends Dan Toto and Hawley Waterman.

Two juniors are Tom West, a 6-4, 200-lb. tight end and – in contrast – Tom Adams, a 120-lb. halfback. "Adams," said Leete, "is tough and fast. He's probably going to play, although he is very small."

Two sophomores whom Leete hopes will come along are Dwight Hallett, a member of last year's freshman team, and newcomer Scott Zahn. Both are linebackers and guards.

The probable starting backfield (for the opener here next Friday against Newark Academy) of Lee, Teel, Royal and Dudeck has experience, Leete explained, but the quartet hasn't played together.

The line is almost as set with Ammirata at center, Smith and Cronin at guard, MacEwan at one tackle slot and West the tight end. As for the split end candidates, "they've all played some," said Leete.

Following last week's scrimmage with West Windsor, Hun was scheduled to scrimmage St. Anthony this Wednesday and Montclair Academy Saturday. Right now, commented Leete, in the early going the offense is ahead of the defense. "Usually, it is the other way around at this point."

Wishbone Scuttled. The wishbone offense that the departed Ernie Barbiero, Terry McEwen and Greg Papers ran so effectively last year has been abandoned. Leete declined, however, to discuss what will take its place.

He is being assisted again by coaches Bill McQuade and Jim MacLeod. Last year's line coach, Dan Lohnes, left to become head coach at St. Andrew's. He has been replaced by Bill Stout, coach of the Hun freshman and sophomore teams last fall.

What is Hun's chance of repeating as League champions? "We're rebuilding but I like to think we have a good shot at it if we don't suffer any key injuries," Leete ventured. He predicted that Blair and Delbarton are the two league teams to beat right now.

FIRST GAME FRIDAY

For PDS Eleven. It's the beginning of a new and definitely a different kind of season for the Princeton Day football team. When the Panthers take the field this Friday at Chestnut Hill School, they will do so without the services of Billy Martin, the team's premier running back for four seasons.

Paddle Tryouts Set

Tryouts for the state team and area competition in platform tennis will be held Monday from 9 to noon at Community Park.

Those interested in playing competitive paddle this season are urged to attend the tryouts. Further information is available from the Recreation Office, 921-9480.

Martin joined the Blue and White as a freshman in the fall of 1972 and was primarily responsible for turning PDS football fortunes around. From a 1-6 record in '71, the Panthers finished with a 4-3 mark in '72. The next three years the team finished at 5-2, winning the Class B division title each time.

For Rob Hoffman, assuming the heading coaching duties for the first time after three years as an assistant, Martin's absence will mean a more balanced effort from all players, instead of waiting for the big man to get the needed yardage. But, Martin did not take PDS's entire running game with him.

Returning are two fine running backs, senior Mark Zawadsky and junior Rob Olsson, who will give the Panthers a strong inside running game. Hoffman is working to give PDS more of a passing attack this year to open up the opposition's defense. He will rely on quarterbacks Dave Barondess, a junior, and freshman Jeff Freda, both of whom have shown well in scrimmages.

Freshman Tim Murdock will play in the slot in Hoffman's offense with Kent Wilkinson alternating between tight and split end. The interior line will consist of sophomore Jack Smart, center, juniors Don Gips and Tim Dill at guard, and sophomore Doug Harrower at tackle. Senior Dave Motley is expected to start at the other tackle spot, if a sprained ankle comes around by Friday.

As in past years most of the offensive players will see action on defense also. The 23-man squad does not afford the luxury of offensive and defensive platoons. Brad Cliptinger will see action at defensive tackle and sophomore Phil Maltese at middle guard. One of the top reserve players is Dave Carpi, one of the few freshman to make the team.

One aspect of the game Hoffman is high on is the Panther's place-kicking. Barondess has the ability to put the ball through the uprights from inside the 20-yard line. In a scrimmage against Greenbrook High School, he hit on a 37-yard field goal with less than a minute to play to give the Panthers a 17-14 victory.

Helping Hoffman with the coaching duties are Mike Pricer, Tom Lotterman, Bob Bruschi and Jim Walker. Lotterman and Bruschi will also coach the junior team.

The rest of the Panthers' schedule is: Sept. 24, Englewood, home; Oct. 2, Montclair, away; Oct. 9, Morristown-Beard, away; Oct. 16, Gill-St. Bernards, home; Oct. 23, Wardlaw, home, and Oct. 30, Hun, home.

Next year a formal league will be organized with each of the B division schools playing each other, as the Ivy League has done for the past 20 years. Pennington Prep will drop out of the Penn-Jersey League to join this league.

FOOTBALL CAMP HELD

By West Windsor Club. A three-day football clinic was held in Blairstown by the West Windsor Jr. Football Club. Instruction in basic fundamentals were given by Rex Walker, head coach of the West Windsor High School football team, and his assistants, Ron Veth, Ken Bernabe and Rolla Werner.

The club consists of three teams: seniors, juniors and freshmen. All three engaged in a scrimmage with the Newton Braves, the freshmen having the easiest time of it as they scored nine touchdowns. Kevin Kehoe accounted for three, Mickey Cernica and Ken McIntyre had two apiece and Eric Dante and Shannon Malloy one each.

The West Windsor juniors won, four TDs to one, and the seniors triumphed, 3 to 1.

Those interested in the program should call the following coaches: Ray Bolling, seniors, 799-1197; John Brienza, juniors, 799-2356; and Phil Malloy, freshmen, 799-2699.

FALL SEASON TO START

For Five PHS Teams. Five teams at Princeton High School will begin their fall seasons this week -- well before the Little Tiger football opener on the 27th.

The soccer team, coached by Ed Beacham and dominated by underclassmen, will open Friday afternoon at 3:45 against Princeton Day School. The game will be played on the PDS field.

Beacham is starting his first year as head coach. He replaces Mel Jones, who guided the Little Tigers for the past six years.

Larry Ivan's cross country team will play host to Trenton High in its home opener on Tuesday at 3:45. Sixteen dual meets are on the schedule.

The girls field hockey team, coached by Joyce Jones, will start defense of its state championship Friday when it intertains Steinert. Game time is 3:45.

Carol Parsons's girls soccer team will begin a 10-game schedule on Friday, traveling to J.P. Stevens for a 3:45 contest. And the girls tennis team, which in previous years competed in the spring, will open on Friday in South Brunswick. The Little Tigers are the defending Mercer County champions.

PP&K SET FOR SUNDAY

In Palmer Stadium. The annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America will be held Sunday, rain or shine, in Palmer Stadium. Any boy or girl, 8 through 13, is eligible.

Warm-up and practice will start at noon; the competition at 1. There is no entrance fee and no body contact. Scoring is based on accuracy and distance.

Those wishing to participate may register at Nassau-Conover Motor Company on Route 206 and should be accompanied by a parent or guardian. Additional information is available from Dave Long at 921-6400.

Father to Play against Son and Brother Will Oppose Brother In Second Round of Annual Springdale Golf Club Tournament

Father will meet son and brother will face brother in two unusual pairings in the championship flight of the Springdale Golf Club tournament Saturday. The annual tournament will enter its second round, following qualifying and first-round action last weekend.

In one match, Scott Quackenbush, the 1975 champion who is starting his senior year at Princeton, will try to keep his father, Bill, from barring his way to successful defense of his title. The senior Quackenbush, who coaches the university team of which Scott is a member, qualified Saturday with a 78. As the current champion, his son was exempt from participation in the qualifying round.

Another family battle will be waged between Mike Shillaber Jr. and his brother, Dave. In first-round action Sunday, Mike triumphed over the medalist, Steve Kahn, who had fired a three-over-par 74 to lead the championship flight. Mike's margin was 4 and 3, while Dave moved up a notch with a 6-and-4 triumph over Karl Pettit, Jr., the seniors' champion.

Bill Quackenbush had Sunday's toughest match, which ended in his favor when he won on the 20th green with a par 3 over Jimmy McCarthy. Earlier this summer, McCarthy, a Princeton High School senior, had won the state PGA junior championship, playing later in the national tournament at Orlando, Fla.

The two were all even on the 18th tee and either player could have won the match with a double bogey on the par 4 383-yard hole. However, both hit a shot out of bounds and the hole was tied in 7. They returned to form on the first extra hole, each man shooting par after narrowly missing a birdie 3, and Quackenbush then won on the 20th green with a par to McCarthy's bogey 4.

In other first round action, Scott Quackenbush defeated Dave Nesbitt, 3 and 1; Jack Mudge won over Ken Dawes, 3 and 2; Bob Lewis won from Norm Lewis, 6 and 5; Moore Gates, Jr., a former champion, eliminated Woodrow Wirsig, 7 and 6; and Jim Litvack topped Oliver Houghton, 4 and 3. Qualifying scores in this bracket ranged from 74 to 83.

In the first flight, for which scores of 85 to 94 qualified, there were these results:

Tom Brophy over Harold Crane, 6 and 4; Dick Leibler over Dave Savage, 3 and 2; Jack Petrone over Terry Booth, 2 and 1; Roland Smith over Paul Levy, 5 and 4; Tom Jamieson over Steve Fillo, 3 and 2; Jack Sweeney over Bob McCarthy, 6 and 5. Kester Pierson and Pat Rulon-Miller advanced to the second round when they drew byes.

Results in the second flight, where those with scores from 94 to 98 were bracketed: Ross Shrader over Frank Dick, 6 and 5; John Budd over Joe Masick, 1 up; Stan Wilson over Charlie Foster, 5 and 4; John Ellsworth over Alex Ross, 1 up in 19 holes; Frank Crecca over Kempton Roll, 4 and 3; Bob Cronin over B.E. Bergesen, 5 and 4. Kline Fulmer and Lyle Fitch drew byes.

In the third round (scores ranging from 99 to 121): Bill Turgeon over John Miller, 7 and 6; Lester Robbins over Sherwood Skillman, 5 and 4; Ted Tams over Jim Schwartz, 1 up in 19 holes; John Brophy over Andy Cahill, 7 and 6; Bert Edmunds over Ed Johnson, 3 and 2. Pete Budd and Mike Curtin advanced on byes.

CLINIC SATURDAY

For Soccer Coaches. The Princeton Soccer Club will hold a coaches clinic from noon to 3 Saturday at the Valley Road School.

It will be run by Richard Broad, assistant coach at Princeton and Director of the club. Included will be drills, explanations of fitness, technique, tactical training, strategies and philosophies of coaching.

Coaches will be given a chance to try the drills and exercises and should bring training gear along with material for taking notes. Although the program is designed primarily for Soccer Club coaches and those interested in helping in the program it is also open to high school and junior high coaches in the community.

Saturday is also the final registration for the club's fall program at Baker Rink on the Princeton University campus between 9 and 12 noon. Those who cannot appear in person may register by mailing their applications to The Princeton Soccer Club, 103 Balcort Drive.

Application forms may be obtained from school athletic directors or from a firm serving as a sponsor. Registration deadline is Monday. Further information is available at 924-5613.
